GERMANY WARNS GREECE TO YIELD

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 18 (AP)—Germany, armed with what observers interpreted as a virtual promise by Turkey to stay within her own frontiers in the event Nazi troops march through Bulgaria, was reported in informed diplomatic quarters today to have taken steps to convince Greece it would be wise to make quick peace with Italy.

Such a peace, these circles indicated, would have to be on Premier Mussolini's terms.

It was reported here the German minister to Athens told Greek leaders after the announcement of the new Turkish-Bulgarian non-aggression pact yesterday that Greece is open to attack through Bulgaria.

He was understood to have made clear that the Reich would prefer to see Greece and Italy settle their fight quickly around a peace table.

The implication was understood to be that if Greece failed to comply, Adolf Hitler's Balkan army would start rolling southward from its bases in Rumania, crossing Bulgaria and entering Eastern Thrace, so that the Greeks could not continue their battle in Albania.

Many diplomats here said they felt the announcement of the pact might lessen the possibility that the Germans actually would move through Bulgaria. They said they believed the Greeks probably would accept Axis terms for a peace, now that hope of aid from Turkey has dwindled, rather than face the armies of both Italy and Germany.

The authoritative Sofia newspaper Zora said Germany and Soviet Russia had agreed on the Bulgarian-Turkish pact as a means of preventing the spread of war in the eastern Balkans.

GREEK DILEMMA—Arrows show dire threat to Greece from German forces whose free movement across Bulgaria is made possible by Turko-Bulgar non-aggression pact just signed. Fact that Greece now may be confronted by armed might of Hitler in addition to that of Italy is expected by some observers to lead to peace in that war zone.

LONDON TOLD IN ADVANCE

Some British quarters said London sources had been informed by Turkey before the pact was announced. Other sources close to the British and Turkish governments indicated London did not learn of the agreement until yesterday. (In London, British said

CLARK, JOHNSON WARN AID TO PUT U. S. IN WAR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Sen. Bennett Champ Clark (D.) of Missouri, charged in debate on the British aid bill today that the measure would carry this country to "the very brink of war," and Sen. Hiram Johnson (R.) of California, asserted formally it would make President Roosevelt "a dictator or worse."

Opening the second day of Senate debate, Clark declared the measure would "strip" American defense, grant "autocratic powers" to the President, and reserve traditional American foreign policy.

In a lengthy minority report, Johnson, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, reviewed the bill's provisions which would permit the President to transfer war materials to warring "democracies" and declared Britain needed no aid beyond what she already was getting from the United States.

"No one can read this bill," Johnson wrote, "and doubt that its ultimate effect, if not its declared purpose, will be to take us into war."

Clark saw the bill as a gamble "upon the one card of a complete British victory."

BOMB HITS LONDON SHELTER, DEAD AND INJURED BURIED

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Many persons were killed and many others injured when a heavy bomb crashed through the roof of a London shelter during a raid on the capital last night, but the government declared today that the Germans were paying a steadily rising price for their forays.

Four raiders were shot down overnight, it was announced officially.

The air raid shelter roof was pierced just before the end of a 3½-hour raid and stretcher bearers, doctors and nurses worked for six hours bringing out survivors trapped underground when debris from the blast choked the entrance.

The shelter normally holds several hundred persons and workers bringing out the victims said the loss of life would be even heavier than at first believed. No figures were issued, however.

PILOT TELLS OF FIGHT

There were clouds and no moon last night. The air ministry news service, however, gave this first person account of a battle in the dark in which a British fighter pilot had to loop and turn to get into position above his slower opponent:

"I closed in for the attack and opened fire immediately . . . Flashes and sparks of brilliant intensity almost blinded me . . . but I kept on firing at the flashes . . . The German machine crashed on land and some of the crew was taken prisoner."

Besides London, raiders bombed the east coast area last night and a home security communique acknowledged "that there was rather more damage in some places in East Anglia than was

'WASTER' WAITT SUES FOR $600,000

BROCKTON, Feb. 18—Wearing, he said, a suit from a Boston bargain basement, Henry F. Waitt, heir to the cigar-built Waitt fortune, went into probate court today, attempting to have a spendthrift stigma lifted and to be given control of his $600,000 in trust funds.

The 39-year-old heir, who now operates a chicken farm at Wayne, Me., where his second wife and their two children reside, sought to have the spendthrift clause expunged from the two trust conditions.

Also he sought to have Attys. George S. Harvey and Walter I. Badger, both of Boston, removed as guardians over him. Fourteen years ago Waitt had agreed that his father, the late Albert Waitt, set up the spendthrift guardianship.

Accompanying Waitt to court today were his second wife, Viola; his mother and several friends from Maine, including the first selectman of Wayne.

His first wife, the former Miriam Stappen, once a Newton dime store clerk, lives at Marion with their 18-year-old daughter.

Eight attorneys are involved in the present action, which is based, by Waitt, on his showing as a Maine chicken farmer in the past few years.

Before going into court he talked with newspapermen and displayed several ribbons and trophies awarded him, he said, out of his chicken raising and egg production.

Four blue ribbons were monthly Maine awards for best egg production and there were two trophies awarded him by the American Poultry Journal in 1939 and 1940.

The first of these two was for the yearly production of 2094 eggs. The second was for the best individual Buff Minorca performance of 214 eggs in a year's test.

Eloper Farese Guilty, His Term Suspended; Probation for Girl

City Councilor Alfred Farese of Everett, 26, married and a father, was found guilty today of abducting 17-year-old Edith E. Anderson, East Boston schoolgirl, in their "elopement" of three weeks ago, but he got off with a suspended three-month sentence to the House of Correction.

The girl was found guilty of being a runaway. Charges of being a stubborn child were dropped. Both she and Farese were placed on probation for the next six months by Judge Charles J. Brown of East Boston court.

Testimony of seven witnesses, including that of a woman doctor and of the girl's mother, had been heard when the case came to a sudden climax.

CROWD DISAPPOINTED

Miss Anderson and her attorney, Mario Ditroia; Farese, his brother, Atty. John Farese of Ashland, Miss., and Atty. Guy Taschetta, together with police, went into Judge Brown's chambers.

Alfred Farese

When they came out a few minutes later, both the police and the defense announced they were resting their cases. Judge Brown then made the findings and pronounced sentences. Both principals left the room hurriedly by separate doors.

More than 150 persons pushed their way into the courtroom to hear the story of the "elopement" which had resulted in a nation-wide search, but if they has expected to hear details of the trip to Mississippi they were disappointed.

SAYS GIRL NOT WRONGED

The only reference that could be construed as applying to that was made by Atty. John Farese when he made a plea before sentencing and told the court:

"People do foolish things when they are in love, but this girl is still virtuous and I ask the court to exercise clemency to save the reputations of the families involved."

Neither principal took the stand during the course of testimony. The girl and her erstwhile sweetheart sat on a front row bench, a few feet from each other, facing the court and the witness stand.

Twice in the hearing, references were made to Farese possibly being divorced from his attractive young wife, Josephine, mother of a three-year-old daughter and expecting the stork again soon.

HUB WOMAN IS HELD IN R. I. MOTOR DEATH

Weeping at times during the hearing, attractive Mrs Florence L. Frey, 26, of Hancock st., Dorchester, indicated today that she will fight extradition to Rhode Island when she pleaded not guilty to being a fugitive from justice in an auto death case in Rhode Island.

Police Chief William Boyle of Cumberland, R. I., and Corp. John T. Sheehan of Rhode Island State Police were present at the arraignment in Dorchester court.

As a result, she was held in $3000 bail, double sureties, and was ordered sent to Charles st. jail, in lieu of the bonds, until further consideration of the case on Friday.

Chief Boyle told the court that Edward Lee, 56, former sexton of St. John's Episcopal Church in Ashton, R. I., was killed when struck by an automobile last week in Cumberland.

He learned, the chief said, that the machine was registered to a Providence man. This man, according to Boyle, told of having met a woman in Woonsocket and accompanying her to several other cafes.

When he left his car to go into a store, the man said, the woman suddenly drove away and this woman driver, it was declared by the chief, was ultimatey identified as Mrs. Frey.

251 DRAFTEES AND 30 VOLUNTEERS TAKE TEST

In answer to the fifth requisition 251 draftees from six cities and towns near to Greater Boston reported today for medical and physical examinations at the induction center, Columbus ave. and Clarendon st. South End.

At the same time it was announced by examining officials the latest groups answering the draft call showed a marked improvement in physical requirements. They pointed out that on Monday only 31 of 299 men examined were rejected.

Those reporting today came from Beverly, Andover, Attleboro, Barnstable, Billerica and Amesbury. All accepted will be sent immediately to Fort Devens.

Also examined at induction headquarters were two groups of 15 men each who had volunteered. One represented enlistments in the regular Army and the other volunteers for flying cadet instruction.

Decreases in rejections in the latest requisitions were attributed to stricter examinations by doctors attached to local draft boards.

The current call continues until Feb. 28 with an average of 215 men a day required to fill the quota. The next call starts on March 1 and lasts until March 18 with 9100 men, the largest quota in the country to date, to be drafted.

Examining officers said that a higher percentage of married men and those gainfully employed had begun to appear as the draft quotas moved higher for this section.

300 Draftees a Day Due at Camp Edwards

CAMP EDWARDS, Feb. 18—For three days, beginning Feb. 26, 300 draftees a day will arrive here to join the 26th Division, without first reporting to any other reception center, staff headquarters announced today.

After Feb. 28, 500 men, according to present orders, will report each day until the division has reached its prescribed strength.

The selectees will be uniformed and equipped and after a short period, assigned under the direction of a total of 260 officers and enlisted men in charge of the processing detail.

Maj.-Gen. Roger W. Eckhardt, commandant, announced that Saturday, Washington's Birthday, will be a camp holiday and that holders of passes may leave that morning.

At the end of the week, local draft boards, it is said, will start the work of finding some 9000 more men to supplement the ranks of the YD at Camp Edwards. On March 1, the sixth and final call starts and by June, it is estimated more than 20,000 Bay Staters will be in the Army.

Meanwhile, officials at Camp Edwards disclosed that Uncle Sam is going to spend $225,000,000 to keep his peace time Army entertained.

The money will be used, it was learned, for relaxation and amusement facilities in the various cantonments throughout the country.

The announcement was made by Joy Ver Lee of the office of the director of Social Security, Washington, who arrived here for a check-up of recreation facilities at the camp.

Forthe first time here hundreds of officers and men dropped strenuous outside duties to attend the divisional and regimental schools. The opening of an 8-week term of school marked the close of the basic training period for the Yankee Division.

FIGHT OVER DOG TRACK TAX BOOST OPENS; RICHES DENIED

Fight over bills to boost the State tax on pari-mutuel betting opened today at the State House with argument as to whether they would "kill the goose that lays the golden egg" and with a demand that the Legislature "dispel the public illusion that dog track operators are favored people."

The hearings included those before legislative committee on two bills favoring increases in taxes on horse and dog tracks.

Supporting a proposal to raise the tax on dog track handles from 3½ per cent to 8 per cent, Rep. Patrick Gilbert Sullivan of Dorchester charged:

"Two years ago the track operators came up here and claimed they weren't making any money; that they hadn't taken a dime out of the tracks.

"Well, they didn't take any money, but they set it aside so that if racing should go out tomorrow they'd stand to make 135 per cent on their original investment."

SEES LOSS EITHER WAY

Admitting under questioning of Committee Member Sen. Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, that he would be "tickled to death" to drive race tracks out of business, John L. Feeney of Cambridge, representing an anti-gambling group, said:

"No matter how much money the State receives from this source there is a loss, as more persons are going on relief every year as a result of the race tracks."

John L. Feeney

Urging favorable action on the bills, Thomas M. Joyce, appearing for the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers, told the committee:

"It is time, once and for all, for the Legislature to dispel the illusion that dog track operators are favored people."

NO DIVIDENDS, SAYS GRANT

Speaking in opposition to bills to the tax increase, Richard D. Grant, legislative counsel for the Revere Racing Ass'n, declared no track in Massachusetts, either horse or dog, had paid any dividends in 1940.

In a lengthy speceh, Grant, a former public utilities commissioner, presented figures purporting to shak a decrease in teh old age assistance tax would work toward an appreciable increase in actual revenue.

He said the added funds could be used by the tracks to stimulate business thus producing larger handles on which a lower tax would be levied.

Edward M. Gallagher of Brighton, president of the Revere Racing Ass'n, also registered opposition to the proposed higher taxes.

RACING MEN OPPOSE

Others opposed were E. R. McCormick of Taunton, representing the new group which recently took over the track at Dighton, and William H. Ensign of Westfield, president of Massasoit Greyhound Racing Association, which operates at Raynham.

McCormick told the committee Dighton track will go out of business and create a monopoly for Wonderland, Revere, if the take is increased.

"Seventy per cent of our revenue comes from Rhode Island people," he said.

"Our company will employ 300 persons and if we are not permitted to operate, because of excessive taxation, it will mean a big loss in revenue to the State."

Motorist Cleared In Coasting Death

A finding of no probable cause was made in Dorchester court today on a manslaughter charge brought against Albert L. O'Brien, 43, of Stockton st., Dorchester, as the result of an auto-sled collision last January in which 11-year-old Robert Conroy of Adams st., Dorchester, was fatally injured.

A sixth grade pupil at the Mather school, the boy was the youngest of four sons of Mrs. Mary A. Conroy, widow of a Boston fireman.

Connolly Complaints Revoked by Court

Judge John Q. Brackett of Municipal Court today revoked complaints issued last Friday to John Patrick Connolly, convicted former clerk of Superior Civil Court, against 11 of his former employes who helped convict him.

RECONCILED — Broadway columnist's report today hinted that Ethel Merman, torch singer, and her husband, William Smith, theatrical agent, had dropped divorce plans.

Although the complaints were ordered issued and were signed by Judge Brackett on Friday, they were held up before Connolly could sign them.

Then Judge Brackett reopened the hearing at the request of the Boston Bar Association, which had been instrumental in investigating Connolly's tenure in office, and having bribe charges lodged against him.

BUSHNELL PLANNED MORE

Connolly sought complaints against 11 employes of the clerk's office, eight women and three men, whose testimony had been factors in his conviction for bribery and conspiracy. His conviction and sentence are now before the Supreme Court on appeal.

Had Judge Brackett allowed the complaints sought by Connelly to issue, they would have been nol prossed immediately, according to Atty-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell, who made that declaration before Judge Brackett at yesterday's continued hearing.

Bushnell said he would also nol-pros even service of complaints in a declaration that he would protect any and all witnesses whose testimony "serves the ends of justice."

Called away from the star chamber session in Judge Brackett's court, Bushnell left behind his first assistant, Frank G. Volpe, with instructions to nol-pros the complaints if they were issued.

Connolly charges that the 11 persons named, all of whom are still employed in the office of the civil court clerk, were guilty of bribery, although denying that he himself was guilty of accepting bribes.

An additional complaint was sought against Margaret (Peg) Kennedy of Savin Hill ave., Dorchester, on the charge that she solicited bribes. The others named were Edward J. Kelley, Thomas F. Brophy, Mary M. Cunningham, Mary C. Brogie, Gertrude M. Cotter, Catherine R. Gibbons, Louise V. Crowley, Anna E. Pugh, John E. Noonan and Martha E. Friel.

N. H. Couple Safely Out of Arctic Wilds

EDMONTON, Alberta, Feb. 18 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Washburn of Hanover, N. H., were back in Edmonton today after 11 months of research work in the western Arctic over terrain they said had not been previously explored by geologists.

They landed at the Edmonton airport last night after a 1300-mile plane flight from Richardson island.

Washburn said they had surveyed hundreds of miles of wasteland, finding the Arctic "a very friendly country," and the weather "exceptionally good."

During their explorations, they traveled by plane, lake schooner and 400 miles by dog team.

"Except for the work of the 1917 Canadian Arctic expedition, which explored along the south shore of Coronation gulf, and a brief flight into the Arctic made by William Jewitt, a mining engineer, some years ago, the western Arctic has received no geological investigation," Washburn said.

The Washburns, who went into the Arctic last March, flying from Edmonton to Cambridge Bay, visited King William Island, south of the magnetic Pole, and trading posts in the Coppermine and Coronation gulf districts.

Brooklyn Man In RAF Missing

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—An official source said tonight that two flights of the American Eagle squadron of the RAF had been "in action" against Germany.

This disclosure was made coincident with the announcement that Pilot Officer Vernon Charles Geogh of Brooklyn had been posted as missing from "operational duties" last Saturday.

The two flights in action are composed of three machines each. Other members of the squadron are still on advanced operational training, it was stated today. Two of them: Philip Howard Leckrone, 28, of Salem, Ill., and Edwin Ezell Orbison, 23, of Sacramento, Cal., have been killed—the latter in an "accidental" brush with a German plane while on a training flight.

Bear Flees Loggers In N. H., Leaving 3 Cubs Behind

WHITEFIELD, N. H., Feb. 18 (AP)—Logging operations in the Burns pond area have dispossessed a hibernating bear of her shelter and left three tiny cubs in the hands of Whitefield and Carroll residents.

An alarmed logger, finding the big bear under a tree trunk, drove her out. Further search, however, revealed the cubs, about three weeks old and measuring eight inches.

They were turned over to animal lovers for the winter.

Police Seek Newton Doctor in Girl Case

Named in a warrant accusing him of performing an illegal operation on a Malden girl, Dr. William E. R. Basch, prominent Newton and Allston physician, was the object of a police search today.

Sergt. Joseph Fallon of the Police Headquarters homicide squad requested Brighton and Newton officers to take the doctor in custody for questioning and, if possible, identification by the girl, revealed by police to be Miss Violet Leonard, 22, of Lineburst rd., Malden.

Although the search, thus far, has proved unsuccessful, a Milton woman and a Malden youth were arrested in connection with the case and arraigned in Brighton court on charges of conspiracy and of being accessories.

The two were: Mrs. Ina M. Plude, alias Chickering, alias McCarthy, 53, of Blue Hills pkway, Milton, and George J. Wagner, Jr., 20, of Seaview ave., Malden.

Both pleaded not guilty and were held in bail of $2000 and $1000, respectively, for hearing on March 4.

PARENTS SUSPICIOUS

Suspicions of the girl's parents, police disclosed, over the whereabouts of their daughter led to the investigation of the case. Milton officers picked up the father, Charles Leonard of Malden, when they discovered him lingering in front of Mrs. Plude's residence in Milton.

According to Chief John B. Shields of the Milton police, Leonard said his daughter had left home Friday, ostensibly to start work as a nursemaid. On Sunday, he was quoted as saying, Miss Leonard telephoned her mother that she would return home soon.

The call aroused Mrs. Leonard's suspicions, police said, and the parents went to Milton to investigate. Milton officers noticed the father waiting outside the house and decided to question him, and he told them of his suspicions.

GIRL SERIOUSLY ILL

Returning to the Plude house, Chief Shields said he and Leonard discovered the girl, seriously ill. At the parents' request, she was removed to Milton Hospital, where her name was placed on the danger list.

The chief said Miss Leonard made a statement to him in the hospital. Subsequently warrants were obtained in Brighton district court naming Dr. Basch, Mrs. Plude and Wagner. Police accused the youth of arranging for the alleged operation and paying a $100 fee.

Dr. Basch, a high-ranking reserve officer and former commander of the Lieut. A. Vernon Macauley Post, American Legion, was missing from his home in Waverly ave., Newton Center, when officers went to place him under arrest.

Members of his family said he had driven away in his wife's auto without revealing his destination.

American Medical Society records show that Dr. Basch, who is 48, was awarded his degree from Middlesex University School of Medicine in 1916.

PROBATION FOR MOTHER IN U. S. PENSION FRAUD

Mrs. Theresa C. Oakes Dinneen, 47, of Lawrence, widow of a war veteran and mother of several children, was given a suspended sentence of two months and placed on probation for one year today when she pleaded guilty in federal court to receiving and accepting unlawfully a pension from the government.

Mrs. Dinneen, according to the charge, accepted money being sent to one of her children after the child died. The amount involved was $700. She was one of five women who appeared before Judge George C. Sweeney on a variety of charges.

Josephine LaPorte, 21, of Cottage st., East Boston, arrested in Miami and brought here after she allegedly attempted to pass forged postal savings certificattes, was given a suspended sentence of six months and one year probation.

Frederick Grasso, alias Fred Martin, 28, of Sumner st., East Boston, with whom she is alleged to have hired rooms in a house from which certificates valued at $200 disappeared, was given six months' suspended sentence and probation of one year, to begin on the expiration of a nine months' sentence he is now serving at Deer Island.

Fosa Gil and Agafia Tokarsky of Springfield were given suspended fines of $500, suspended sentences of six months in jail and probation for one year on indictments charging unlawful possession of unregistered stills.

On the plea of Asst. U. S. Atty. Arthur J. B. Cartier, Margaret H. Daley, 26, of South st., Lowell, a domestic employed in Worcester, was given probation for two years. She was charged with having forged and cashed $20 in money orders in letters which came into her possession. Cartier told the court she had made restitution.

BLASTS HALT SPAIN FIRE; 167 DEAD

MADRID, Feb. 18 (AP)—Soldiers and firemen dynamited a ring around the blazing center of Santander today, apparently checking wind-swept flames which in two days have routed 30,000 inhabitants from their homes. The winds were subsiding.

Authorities in the northern Spanish port said most of the city appeared to be out of danger, although the old commercial district was wrecked.

The flames, spread by hurricane winds that started Sunday, left nearly a square mile in center of the city in ruins and leveled buildings in 13 principal streets.

Santander's storm and fire deaths were placed at 12, bringing the total to 167 in Spain and Portugal.

In Portugal, rivers continued to rise without any sign of a break in the weather. A dike gave way on the Tagus, flooding the Lisbon-Oporto railway.

Reports from Faro, Portugal, said virtually the entire Algarve fishing fleet was sunk or badly damaged.

The 4000-ton Greek freighter Mimosa, which flashed an SOS at the height of the storm, was believed lost. Bundles of cork believed to be from her cargo floated ashore.

Santander's neighboring Bay of Biscay Province, Bilbao, also was hard hit by the hurricane. At least 400 buildings were destroyed, and many of Bilbao city's fishing vessels were among the 300 ripped from their moorings and blown out to sea.

Shot Explodes Nazi Plane, Crew Killed

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—A German plane exploded over the North sea today when a shot from the minesweeping trawler Stella Rigel hit it, the admiralty announced.

A communique said the trawler's commander, T. H. Spall, opened fire when the plane began circling. He scored hits immediately and the plane blew up. There were no survivors.

Defense Areas Set by F. D.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (INS)—President Roosevelt, by executive order, today barred all but American Army and Navy vessels and aircraft from a three-mile area surrounding various strategic American harbors and islands.

Private vessels and aircraft will be allowed to pass into these areas only with the express permission of Secretary of the Navy Knox.

The areas coming within the President's order include Culebra Island, Puerto Rico; Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii; Kiska and Unalaska Islands, Alaska; Palmyra, Johnston, Midway, Wake, Kingman Reef Rose, Tutila and Guam Islands in the Pacific.

These areas will be known as naval defensive sea areas and naval airspace reservations.

Navy spokesmen said these areas are being closed to normal public traffic for "obvious defense reasons." Similar prohibitions already have been invoked at Guantanamo Boy, Cuba; Dutch Harbor, Alaska; Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Subic Bay, in the Philippines.

BROKER SHIFTS HIS PLEA, ADMITS HUGE STOCK FRAUD

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18 (AP)—Less than an hour after he surprised the prosecution by pleading innocent, Robert J. Boltz changed his mind today and pleaded guilty to 185 indictments charging embezzlement, fraudulent conversion and violation of the State Securities act in connection with $2,500,000 investment business.

The second plea was as unexpected by the commonwealth as the first and climaxed a swift-moving hearing.

After Boltz had pleaded innocent, his attorney, L. Albert Gray, asked for a continuance. Judge Eugene V. Alessandroni refused. Gray then threatened to withdraw as counsel, saying he was not familiar enough with the case to proceed.

This brought from Judge Alessandroni an unusual action. Not only did he stand fast on refusing a continuance, but he appointed Gray counsel for Boltz as an officer of the court, thereby blocking his threatened withdrawal. A few minutes later the 54-year-old investment counsellor changed his plea.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Francis W. Sullivan, meanwhile, disclosed that warrants had been issued for an unidentified philadelphia attorney charged by federal officials with misappropriating "hundreds of thousands of dollars" from clients in the last five years.

"We believe," Sullivan said, "that this man's operations amount to a second 'Boltz case.'

"The investigation indicates that, while he did not have as many clients as Boltz, his peculations mount into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"He has been operating for the past five years as an attorney in very much the same relationship with clients as that assumed by Boltz."

Tobin Fights Day Off In Six for City Cops

With Mayor Tobin appearing as the lone dissenter the legislative Committee on Public Service today heard Andrew Gorry, of the Boston police department, speaking for Commissioner Tmilty endorse proposed legislation to provide one day off in six for police in cities and towns.

Also appearing before the committee was former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly, sponsor of the measure, who warmly endorsed the plan as it now operates in Fall River, where he is the Boston member of the Finance Commission. He said:

"I have seen the measure, which I sponsored, work out successfully in Fall River and I believe that police in all cities and towns in the State should be on an equal basis."

SEES MORALE BUILD-UP

"It would tend to build up the morale of the department. And it doesn't mean a five-day work week as some argue. The five day week would mean two days off in seven."

Others supporting the bill were Capt. John Keavey, head of the Massachusetts Police Ass'n, who appeared with Lieut. Francis Lawlor, of Lynn, and Police Chief Archie Bullock, of Arlington, head of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs' Ass'n.

Pointing out that Boston policemen now get one day off in eight, Mayor Tobin recorded his opposition to the bill. He told the committee:

"It would mean an added financial burden to the city which I don't feel it could stand right now. It means the appointment of new officers at great expense.

STATE "NAVY" HIT

"I believe that at a later date some adjustment probably could be made."

Massachusetts' "navy" was described today as unfit for sea by Rep. William G. Reed of Rockland in urging the legislative Ways and Means Committee to appropriate $10,000 for a modern boat for the department of conservation.

The boats now used is patroling the cost to enforce the marine fisheries law, he said, are so o'd and in such doubtful condition that they must remain snug in port when a stiff wind is blowing.

May Save Eye Hit by Arrow

Doctors at Massachusetts General Hospital strove today to save the right eye of little Richard Crowley, 5, of Reed st., Rockland, accidentally shot with an arrow by a 5-year-old chum.

The youngster was raced to the hospital after an arrow had squarely penetrated his right eyeball. Early diagnosis indicated the child's eye would have to be removed, but specialists today declared they had hopes of both saving the eye and the boy's sight.

The child is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Crowley and a pupil in the first grade of McKinley grammar school, Rockland.

N. E. Housewares Show Opens Here

A fascinating exhibit of the newest items in housewares, the output of plants of more than 300 manufacturers, was opened today in the Parker House when Gov. Saltonstall raised the curtain on the eighth annual New England Housewares Show.

Four entire floors of the hotel are required to house the exhibit, which is said to make this show the greatest on record for Boston. Charles A. Hauver, chairman of the show committee, said today that everything points to a record-breaker in attendance and dollar value of sales.

The highlight of the show will be the "Jamboree" to be held Thursday at 7 p. m. in the main ballroom.

Tough Convict Loses Swagger

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (INS) — Stanley Cole, convicted murderer, swaggered into court for sentence. He didn't swagger out.

The jury that found him guilty of killing Mrs. Hannah Dunning, 70-year-old shoelace peddle, had recommended mercy. Always in the past that recommendatio has meant a sentence of life imprisonment—not the electric chair.

So Cole was tough about it.

"Have you anything to sy before sentence is passed?" Judge Wallace asked.

"Nothing at all—to you' Cole snarled.

A moment later the juje sentenced him to die in the iectric chair at Sing Sing next month. Cole heard the judge expla that a recommendation of mer by a jury is not mandatory. Te law says that the judge "may" impose a life sentence.

Radial Highway Plan Before Legislature

Whether Boston will become an important link in a proposed $19,400,000 overhead radial highway was definitely forced into the lap of the Legislature today.

After two hours of debate, the proposal negotiated the final hurdle here as City Council approved the measure proposed by Mayor Tobin.

Sanction of the Council was necessary before the Legislature can act. The vote was 16 to 2 with Councilors James S. Coffey of East Boston and Perley Dyer Chase of the Back Bay the opponents. Councilor Henry L. Shattuck of the Back Bay did not vote.

TRADE BOARD BACKING

The Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce called for unified support of the artery bill.

George Hansen, president of the board, stated:

"If Boston is to maintain its place as a great metropolitan city in which business is to grow and succeed, if Boston is to avoid the stagnation which surely follows civic indifference, this major project must be achieved at once."

The central traffic artery is planned to go overhead from Albany st. and Broadway, South End, across the New Haven tracks, along Atlantic ave. to the vicinity of Broad st. and then across to Haymarket sq. to the vicinity of Cotting st.

Meanwhile, councilors were studying a new anti-noise ordinance designed to take the noise out of horns, radios, rickety autos and barking dogs.

Submitted by Mayor Tobin, the measure, a substitute for one previously vetoed, provides penalties for sounding auto horns needlessly or playing radios to the annoyance of neighbors.

Barking dogs and caterwauling by cats would be curbed under a section which bars "the keeping of any animal or bird which by biting or causing frequent or long-continued noise shall disturb the quiet and repose of any person in the vicinity.

Farese and Girl On Probation

telling his wife he was going to Washington to be a G-man.

"I'll probably divorce you if you go to Washington," LaRossa quoted Mrs. Farese as having said.

The second time was when Mrs. Edith M. Anderson of Havre st., East Boston, the girl's mother, was testifying. She was asked if she wasn't thankful Farese had brought her daughter home unharmed. She said she was. Then Atty. John Farese asked:

"Did he tell you that he was going to get a divorce and marry Edith?"

"I don't understand exactly, but he did say something like that," was Mrs. Anderson's reply.

UNAWARE FARESE WED

Neither she nor her daughter were aware at any time that Farese was a married man, Mrs. Anderson insisted. Nor did Rita DiFreitas, 17-year-old chum of the runaway, have any idea of Farese's marital status, according to testimony.

The DiFreitas girl and Sol Levi, a fellow-worker and friend of Farese, had driven witht the runaways as far as New York city, but left them there at Farese's request, the court was told.

"Edith said that I was to tell her mother she was married when I got home," said Miss DiFreitas.

Farese and the Anderson girl "eloped" from East Boston on Jan. 30, after Farese told his wife he was going to Washington. They surrendered themselves to Farese's brother in Ashland, Miss., Feb. 4, as a nationwide search was being made.

FALL RIVER, Feb. 18—James N. Goode, 3½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Goode of Pearce st., was instantly killed here when he pedalled his tricycle into the path of an automobile police say was driven by Earl B. Evans of Main st., Swansea.

Evans told authorities he did not see the youngster. He said his machine was in second gear at the time. The victim was the son of the manager for Western Union here.

Bardia Capture Further Dents British Diet

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP) — Food Minister Lord Woolton told the House of Lords today that Britain had chosen "Bardia instead of beef" and warned that "greater restrictions" on diet were coming because of the loss of food ships to submarines.

When the decision was made to rush troops to the Mediterranean, he said, the government took transport vesse's "which were in the habit of bringing meat to this country . . . we had a choice of beef or Bardia."

The food ministry sees "no possibility of getting those ships back while the Mediterranean campaign goes on," he added, and no chance of raising the meat ration from the current 23 cents worth a week per person.

State Home For Quads, Aim

BISMARCK, N. D., Feb. 18 (AP)—North Dakota may build a home for the state's only quadruplets—the three sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Brown of Leonard.

Sen. J. L. Flatt of Ransom announced last night that a bill will be introduced soon in the Legislature asking for an appropriation of $25,000 to construct a combined nursery and home for the children. The measure, he said, will be presented as a committee bill.

The senators have been concerned about offers which might result in the Browns leaving the state with their children, Brown, a farmer and filling station operator, Dr. J. F. Hanna, the obstetrician and one of the guardians, and Paul Jones, Fargo architect, were here yesterday conferring with senators interested in the bill.

10,000 WPA MEN IN STATE TO LOSE JOBS

Approximately 10,000 WPA workers in Massachusetts will be cut from federal payrolls about March 1st, it was learned today, following reports from Washington that the Bay State's allotment for next month would be reduced between 10 and 12 per cent.

Although local WPA officials would make no comment on the forthcoming lay-off it was stated that official word of a payroll cut was expected from Washington officials next week.

According to figures released today by Dennis W. Delaney, State WPA administrator, close to 81,600 persons are on WPA rolls in the Bay State. Of this number 16,000 are engaged in national defense projects.

Next month's contemplated personnel reduction in this state is to be followed by another 10 per cent slash July 1, authoritative Washington sources disclosed.

Administrator Delaney, however, stated that all defense projects would continue and that certain non-defense projects would be temporarily shut down with the eligible workers on the latter replacing those subject to the expected lay-off in the defense jobs.

A total of $15,000,000 is being expended this year in this state for Army, Navy, Coast Guard and National Guard defense projects, he said.

Administrator Delaney said that when official notice is received here to cut payrolls, those to be chiefly affecting the ca-called Class C workers, single persons with no direct dependents. Class A as made up of married men with families and Class B is formed of married workers without children or single persons with one or two dependents.

serious weakening of our own means of defending ourselves and our brethren in this hemisphere."

As the first speaker against the bill in the Senate debate, Clark urged that there be no "name-calling" and that members give "faith and credence" to the arguments of those with whom they disagree.

"If this bill is passed," he said, "this may be among the last of the opportunities we shall have to exercise that right."

Clark said he spoke "with authority" in assuring the Senate that opponents had no "desire unduly to prolong the debate" and referred to the "brief few days" the discussion would occupy the chamber.

Proceeding to "denounce and oppose" the bill, Clark noted its title claimed the measure would "promote the defense of the United States."

It would do nothing of the kind, he continued.

"It is in fact," he declared, "a bill to authorize the denuding of American defenses; to authorize the suspension of any American law inconsistent with the dictatorial powers conferred in the act; to authorize the arming and feeding and supplying of any country in the world at the expense of American taxpayers in the sole discretion of the President of the United States; to authorize the making of foreign alliances without the concurrence of the Senate as required by the Constitution of the United States; to authorize the underwriting of the cost of maintaining the British Empire around the world at the expense of the taxpayers of America; to bring the war to our very doors by affording access to our navy yard and shipyard facilities for the warships of belligerent nations; to abandon the Monroe Doctrine by the abandonment of its vital principle of not participating in Europe's wars."

AGAINST DEFENDING BRITAIN

He also spoke of the bill as "an abdication by Congress of its functions and responsibilities in a manner not contemplated by the Constitution."

He said he hoped Great Britain could repel "any and all onslaughts of the unspeakable Hitler."

"Much as I admire the heroism of the British defense of their own islands," he added, "—and I may say that I have always believed the British would be exceedingly tough on their own home grounds where they have so seldom had to fight—I am entirely unwilling to commit this country to a defense of the British empire around the world.

"I am utterly unwilling to turn over to them articles which we might vitally need for our own defense. I cannot agree that the American people should be called upon to underwrite the expenses of the defense of the British empire from Hongkong to Labrador.

WHEELER BLASTS BILL

"I am unwilling that American taxpayers, already hard pressed, should be called upon to make sacrifices by the adoption of measures which Canada and New Zealand and Australia have not been called upon to enact."

Earlier, Sen. Wheeler (D.) of Montana charged the British aid bill would confer upon President Roosevelt powers akin to those which he said enabled Premier Daladier to take France into war without regard for constitutional restrictions.

Attacking the legislation anew, the Montanan asserted that if the nation wants to help Britain, Congress should vote "$2,000,000,000 or $5,000,000,000" in cash.

The lend-lease camp presented the first of its arguments yesterday, when Senators Barkley, (D.) of Kentucky; Austin, (R.) of Vermont; Pepper, (D.) of Florida, and Thomas, (D.) of Utah, took the floor to plead for enactment of the measure as vital to national security.

Pepper told the chamber that "call it war, or not call it war, the American people will not let England fall to Hitler." If the lend-lease program fails to save the English, he predicted, the United States would go ahead and "save them anyway."

FOR AMENDMENTS

Wheeler coupled this statement with the announcement that he favored incorporating a half dozen restrictive amendments in the pending bill. This was interpreted generally as another tacit concession that opponents had discarded hopes of sending the legislation down to outright defeat.

The restrictive amendments favored by Wheeler included: A ban on convoys; a declaration that the bill gives the President no power beyond what he already has to send troops abroad; a limitation on amount and type of equipment which could be transferred; a requirement that Britain state her "peace terms" before receiving any American aid; an obligation that Army and Navy chiefs certify that any equipment sent Britain is not necessary for American defense, and specification of countries to be aided by the legislation.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican floor leader, predicted that any amendments adopted by the Senate would be accepted by the House. Any such amendments, Martin predicted, likely would be limitations, "and any limitations will improve the bill."

The minority leader discussed the British aid program briefly with Wendell L. Willkie last night. Martin voted against the Lease-Lend measure when it passed the House.

CHAMP HERO! SAVES 633 IN 18 YRS.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18—The safest place in town is the Gus McClellan home—provided you don't trip over some safety device. Gus by vocation is an engineer on a shifting engine in the nearby Homstead Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., and by vocation a life saver.

The stockily built, ruddy complexioned, gray-haired McClellan counts at 633 the lives he has saved in 18 years. By next month the total probably will be 635 or 636; it mounts that fast.

A personal tragedy and a community catastrophe started Gus on his career. Two of his sons burned to death. Soon after, Gus, then a fireman, saw eight of his buddies killed fighting a refinery fire.

Gus vowed then to devote his life to rescue work.

LIFESAVING INVENTOR

So he quit the fire department and got job after job with firms making lifesaving equipment. He worked for five such manufacturers, learning all he could from each, acquiring his own equipment, much of it second-hand, some self-made. In several instances he installed his own improvements, such as the non-fogging device on dozens of his smoke masks to prevent the user's breath from clouding the glass eye pieces.

Gus' equipment includes 17 inhalators and a pulmotor, with oxygen tank or tanks; "about 80" smoke masks of many types and vintages; an antique, manually operated device imported years ago from France that applies artificial respiration by leverage, and apparatus for working under water, in mines and at fires. He says he can't estimate the value of it, but many of the masks cost $50 each and some of the devices $250.

ALWAYS ON CALL

Gus—even his children call him Gus—is constantly on call. His shift in the steel mill is from 4 p. m. to midnight, but he's called from work, he's called from bed—any time.

And he always responds in his car equipped with flashing red lights provided by the fire department, police siren and Red Cross flag.

He's saved newborn babies, persons apparently drowned, victims of carbon monoxide, smoke, suffocation and mine disasters. Once he worked on a man for nine hours and revived him; to another he restored life 55 minutes after a physician pronounced him dead.

That was the self-instructed rescue worker's most successful night. It was in November, 1930, and fire broke out in a photographer's studio at Irwin, 30 miles east. When Gus arrived, there were 19 firemen overcome by film fumes.

SAVED ALL 19

Wearing a smoke mask, he carried out all 19. With four inhalators, he went to work, recruiting helpers from the crowd, showing them how to operate the inhalators or apply artificial respiration. He revived all 19.

"Why," he recalls, "one day I was driving along the street and saw a woman collapse, face down on the sidewalk. I kept her breathing—without turning her over—until we got to a hospital, then discovered it was my own mother."

Victim of a heart attack, she recovered.

Rescue work with the McClellans is a family affair. Sometimes if Gus is called to what he thinks might be a more than one-man job, the whole family roars away, sirens screaming and red lights flashing. Mrs. McClellan and sons, Bobbie, 14, and Claire, 13, are nearly as proficient as Gus.

Gus usually bills the people he saves for the amount of oxygen he uses. A small tank costs him $10. Sometimes his avocation costs him from $40 to $50 a week.

"Most of the time," he says, "all I get is a pat on the back, but I'm doing what I promised myself I'd do. I'm saving lives."

REVISED BIBLE PUTS PILATE DOWN SCALE

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18 (AP) — After almost 2000 years, Pontius Pilate has been demoted.

Recorded in Biblical history as governor of Judea, the man who delivered Jesus to his Roman superiors to be crucified will be listed simply as procurator of the Roman province in a streamlined revision of the Catholic New Testament.

The revision—the first since 1749—will be released May 18, designated as Biblical Sunday in the United States.

Bishop Edwin O'Hara of Kansas City, chairman of a confraternity committee which rewrote the New Testament in modern language, explained that Pilate was not a governor in the modern sense, but a fiscal agent of Rome with judicial powers.

FIVE YEARS' WORK

The revision is the result of nearly five years' work by the committee, comprising Bishop O'Hara, Archbishop John Gregory Murray of St. Paul, Minn.; Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati, and an editorial board of outstanding Scripture scholars.

The confraternity has started revising the Old Testament. This work will require two or three years more.

Many words of Latin derivation, no longer commonly used, have been omitted. The frequent "concupiscence" has been replaced by "lust." Such outmoded words as "saith," "calleth" and "took place" have been changed to "said," "called" "was." The often used "tidings" and "this day" have become simply "news" and "today."

In the Gospel concerning the laborers in the vineyard each will receive his "denarius" instead of "penny." The "denarius" was a silver coin equivalent to one 81th of a Roman pound, and "penny" does not convey the proper value.

USE OF PARAGRAPHS

A striking change in printing style is the use of paragraphs instead of the familiar verse form. Printing will be one wide column across each page, instead of two. New and more understandable footnotes have been appended.

Poems are printed in poem form, quotations as quotations and letters as letters, using other modern editorial practices.

Bishop O'Hara said he realized the need of a revised edition while conducting adult discussion clubs in Montana in 1933 and 1934. He suggested a revision to the confraternity committee and it was approved.

The last revision was by Bishop Richard Challoner of London 192 years ago. He revised an English translation made in 1582 by professors of English colleges at Rheims and Douay, France. Challoner's version has been the generally accepted English translation for Catholics.

Clear Mitchell, M'Cormack Asks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Rep. McCormack (D.) of Massachusetts, introduced a resolution to exonerate the late Col. William Mitchell and record his resignation from the Army as having been "under honorable circumstances."

McCormack asserted Mitchell had been court-martialled "for his vision and foresight" and "censored for his outspoken utterances in advocating an air corps."

"I think we should rectify a serious mistake made years ago to clear the name of a great American who in his day was years ahead of his colleagues."

McCormack said that "subsequent events clearly justify his judgment."

New London Styles Sport Gay Colors

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Britain's much-discussed new spring styles and colors, finally unveiled after weeks of dark secrecy, should help to get minds off the war this spring.

The styles and models—which designers with fingers crossed hope to get to North and South America early in the spring—feature colors of the sky, sea, lakes, streams and gayers earth colors. There are no such creations as had figured in some speculations, such as blitz black RAF blues and ration-card red.

Through many designs, oddly or perhaps not oddly, runs a subtle United States touch, with red, white and blue predominant.

Everything was a big secret until yesterday. Last August, the government asked the British Color Council, to act in a liaison capacity between countries and exploiters.

TROUBLE BEGINS

Then the trouble began and, as the council said, "probably no important collection of models ever has been produced under such strange circumstances.

The samples were sent first to the council offices, but a time bomb hit nearby, and they were abandoned for 10 days. Next, they were installed in a government building and high explosives caused another delay. They were taken elsewhere. Then a big fire destroyed many, and the council had to start again.

In guarding style secrets through all this, conferences were held in strange places—railway stations, old taverns and restaurants, once, the records were hidden in a beauty parlor.

DESIGNS BRIGHT

Despite all this and the war, the new designs are very bright. Designer Lachasse has a tailored white linen suit with sulphur yellow shirt. Another is a paisley pattern cotton with scarlet zouave, looking like a spring garden being invaded by the neighbor's chickens.

Hartnell is featuring a tweed suit in cornflower blue. Worth offers a horticultural garden dress of dazzling pattern, and Molyneux has a rayon crepe evening dress in a red that makes the red hills of Georgia look pale.

Nazis Warn Greece To Accept Peace

they had given their blessing to the negotiations.)

British Minister George Rendel declared Britain had "no intention whatever of taking any initiative leading to violation of Bulgarian neutrality or dragging Bulgaria into war."

It was reported here that Bulgaria and Turkey would start today withdrawal of troops massed along their common frontier.

More than 300,000 Turkish soldiers have been concentrated in recent weeks in European Turkey, across from Bulgaria, and Bulgaria recently reinforced her frontier with the first army corps from Sofia.

In Balkan capitals where German and Italian influence predominates, the feeling prevailed that the Axis powers would follow up this diplomatic bombshell with lightning rapidity to achieve their ends in southeastern Europe—elimination of Greece as a belligerent and acquisition of eastern Mediterranean bases from which to harass the British.

CLEAR-CUT DECISION

Observers in Rumania, interpreting the pact as indicating Turkey's retirement into the background, said the way is open for a clear-cut decision:

Either Greece makes peace and falls into line with Axis plans or the German army will roll quickly across Bulgaria and finish Greece off in short order.

"It's up to the Greeks to decide which way they want it," said one Rumanian informant with Nazi connections.

Sources close to the Hungarian government declared frankly Turkey's action in signing the non-aggression pact meant she would remain neutral, and expressed belief "no military operations on a great scale will be necessary" in southeastern Europe—apparently only another way of saying Greece must yield.

Official quarters in Yugoslavia said the pact, signed yesterday, did much to explain the haste with which Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic responded to Adolf Hitler's summons to Berchtesgaden last week.

These quarters declared the Yugoslav statesman knew what was coming and realized resistance to German demands would be useless since the remainder of the Balkans was destined soon to fall into the Axis grasp.

(German government circles in Berlin indicated last night they considered the new treaty a feather in the Reich's cap. "This move," a German spokesman said, "can certainly be considered a great success for those who have been working toward consolidation and mutual understanding in the Balkans.")—Editor's note.

Greek circles were said to have found a ray of encouragement in the fact that the Bulgarian-Turkish agreement was "without prejudice to their contracted engagements with other countries."

Diplomatic circles acknowledged that theoretically Turkey thereby left the door open to aid Greece, with whom she has a mutual assistance pact. They argued, however, that since Turkey did not move to aid Greece when Italy attacked her, there was small reason to believe the Turks would help Greece in the event of a Nazi invasion, unless Turkey's own borders were threatened.

Turkey's foreign minister, Sukru Saracoglu, had this to say of the new treaty.

"Small things can occasionally bring about great events and cause much good. The modest document we have just signed can perhaps prevent complications in the Balkans."

The Bulgarian minister to Ankara was quoted as saying:

"This document is a proof of friendship and trust between Bulgaria and Turkey."

The crux of the document was a single sentence of the 250-word pact:

"Turkey and Bulgaria consider as the unchangeable foundation of their foreign policies abstinence from all aggression."

TWO-PARTY BASIS

Actually, the agreement merely places on a two-party basis a non-aggression pact which Bulgaria negotiated July 31, 1938, with the members of the Balkan entente—Turkey, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Greece. Reaffirmation of this agreement, however, by Bulgaria and Turkey, was regarded as highly significant.

Diplomatic observers generally agreed that Soviet Russia had exerted pressure of some sort to divorce Turkey from developments in the Balkans, but the price Moscow might have obtained from Hitler for such service remained highly conjectural.

U. S. Sees Nazi Move As Defense Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (INS)—A far-reaching German move to prevent Great Britain from eventually launching a land offensive on the European continent through the back-door of the Balkans is behind the conclusion of the Turko-Bulgarian non-aggression pact, according to well-informed quarters in Washington today.

Germany wants to fortify the Balkan mountains which run through Bulgaria, from the Black Sea to Yugoslavia. It also wants to fortify the easily-defended range of mountains along the Greco-Bulgarian frontier.

Berlin is reported to have informed Moscow, as well as the Balkan capitals, that unless these mountains are fortified and held by strong German forces, the British one day will attempt to move an army through them to attack Germany.

London Sees Bulgar Pact Of Little Aid to Turkey

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Turkish-Bulgarian non-aggression agreement "can have little practical meaning to Turkey," authoritative British sources said today, because there are "grave doubts" of Bulgaria's ability to pursue an independent course.

Doubts were expressed in official British circles over the ability of Bulgaria to preserve her neutrality under an influx of German troops, or to exercise freedom of choice over her own foreign policy.

Turkey, these sources said, is "completely loyal" to Great Britain and kept the British government informed throughout the negotiations with Bulgaria.

These negotiations were said to have started before the infiltration of German forces which some British sources have indicated already are in Bulgaria.

The agreement, it was said, implies that Bulgaria "does not intend military adventures of any kind"—including any military move against Greece.

In authoritative circles, the common view was that the pact had left the general situation unchanged, and that Britain still had full confidence in Turkey as a middle eastern bastion and the defender of the Dardanelles.

Turks Express Relief Over Pact Signing

ISTANBUL, Feb. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—Turkish sources expressed belief today that Consultations with other Balkan countries and probably Britain, Germany and Soviet Russia preceded the signing of the Turkish-Bulgarian non-aggression pact.

It was disclosed that the agreement was initiated Friday, but was not signed formally until today (Monday). The foreign office described the signing as a "quiet ceremony."

It was pointed out that a clause attached to the pact provided that it shall not interfere with existing agreements Bulgaria and Turkey have with other countries.

Nazis Pleased But Silent On Bulgar-Turk Pact

BERLIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—German officialdom was obviously pleased, but uncommunicative, today about possible effects of the Bulgarian-Turkish non-aggression pact.

JAPAN LAYS WAR TENSION TO UNCLE SAM'S MEDDLING

TOKYO, Feb. 18 (AP)—A Japanese spokesman declared today that "warlike preparations of the British and American governments" in the Pacific had caused "anxiety if not misgivings" in Japan and said the situation would be "greatly mitigated" if the United States confined such alleged preparations to the Western Hemisphere.

The spokesman, Koh Ishii, director of the cabinet information bureau, declared in a prepared statement to the press that "we are utterly unable to see any good purpose served by prolonging war, whatever the motive may be."

"Japan is fully prepared," he said, "to act as mediator or take whatever action is calculated to recover normal conditions, not only in greater East Asia, but anywhere in the world."

Ishii said later this phrase was not to be interpreted as an offer of mediation, but an expression of willingness to accept any invitation to act in such a capacity.

INTENTIONS PEACEFUL

He emphasized that "leading powers" in the world have a "great responsibility for restoring world peace and civilization" and declared "such a responsibility can only be fulfilled by wise and generous statesmanship which is willing to listen to others' claims and contentions."

Ishii reiterated statements that Japan's intentions are peaceful; that "so far as we can see there is no ground for entertaining alarming views of the East Asiatic situation."

The Japanese press declared today "four-power encirclement of our country is a plain fact." This referred to the position of the United States, Great Britain, Australia and the Netherlands government in exile in London.

Only yesterday, Vice Foreign Minister Chuichi Ohashi was quoted by Domei, Japanese news agency, as saying these four governments "seem intent on suppressing Japan," and that Japan might "be obliged to face the issue."

Last night Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told a committee of the House of Representatives "nothing can deflect" Japan from a policy of establishing "a mutual prosperity sphere."

He urged national unity to prevent any belief abroad that Japan "is being rapidly exhausted or divided against herself regarding national policy—a belief which might suggest that a policy of firmness by the United States might induce Japan to relax her attitude to a certain extent."

Nazis Say Welles Wrong on Food

BERLIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—Authorized spokesmen reiterated today Germany's contention she is not responsible for the feeding of inhabitants in occupied territories.

They thus took issue with Sumner Welles, United States undersecretary of state, who asserted in Washington yesterday that, under international law, Germany was obligated to provide adquately for the care of inhabitants in occupied lands.

Welles, substituting for Secretary of State Hull at a press conference, made his statement in rejecting former President Hoover's proposal that the United States supply food to Belgians on an "experimental basis."—Editod's note.

Welles' statement, the German spokesmen said, was "false and incorrect."

They said Welles misunderstood the legal implications of the Hague convention and accused him of "trying to shove responsibilities on Germany" for problems the Germans claim are engendered by the British blockade.

The German spokesmen denied the Hauge convention made any provision for the victor to feed people of occupied nations.

U. S. OFFICER LAMENTS LACK OF EQUIPMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—A field artillery staff officer declared today that the United States might have to pay in "needless dead and wounded" and "even lost wars" for failing to modernize its equipment and tactics in the post-war years.

The artilleryman, Lt. Col. Thomas R. Phillips, urges in an article in "The Infantry Journal" that "conservatives" in the War Department be replaced by men who could comprehend the changes brought about by new weapons and altered social conditions.

To illustrate his contention, he declared that possibilities of the tank went generally unrecognized in the United States Army until the outbreak of the present European struggle.

IDEALLY SUITED

"Here," said Col Phillips, "is a weapon ideally suited to the greatest industrial nation on earth and to a soldier personnel, every one of whom is able to drive a car and has some elementary mechanical education.

"At the outbreak of the European war we had some 300 light tanks. We had no homogeneous armored divisions capable of independent action . . . The reasons for the shortage of tanks are exclusively our own fault."

Col. Phillips formerly was an instructor at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and now is attached to the general staff of the Puerto Rican department.

He contended that the U. S. Army also has lagged in motorizing supply trains and in reorganizing its divisions to conform to the demands of modern war.

"One would think," he continued, "that the United States, which can manufacture trucks faster than it can draft men, would have developed the tactics and equipped its army so as to make the greatest possible use of this exceptional military asset. But not so.

"It was not until 1939 that a divisional organization was adopted which discarded horses and mules for hauling supplies in wagons and dragging machine-gun carts and substituted motors for them."

HARDLY KNOWN

The officer said that the successful use of self-contained combat teams by Germany in 1918 was disregarded, "or perhaps hardly even known," in the American army.

"In the mater of obtaining a suitable artillery to keep up with the infantry," he wrote, "we remained perfectly contented for 20 years after the World War with the French 75 of World War vintage . . . It had been known for many years that European armies were discarding them as fast as their finances permitted small howitzers to be manufactured to replace them."

A number of Italian tanks were reported destroyed in one action.

School Defense Plea Stirs Parents' Congress

Special to Boston Evening American.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18—From the lips of Mrs. William Kletzer, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, a nation-wide radio audience today heard this formula for national defense:

"Total defense means, I trust, not merely the military defense of our shores but also an effective defense of our American democratic institutions."

The address was a major event of the annual Founders' Day celebration for the organization, which now has almost 2,500,000 members. Originally it was called the National Congress of Mothers and it was started by Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst and Mrs. Alice McLellan Birney.

The present head of the congress, Mrs. Kletzer, is a resident of Portland, Ore., but her address was delivered in Chicago and broadcast from Station WBBM over the Columbia network. She said that in the kind of national defense she had in mind there was a task for every citizen to play. She continued:

"Sex, age, physical condition, may determine who defends our shores, but there is no exemption or deferred classification for the defenders of the American way of life."

In defending the American way of life, she said, one of the most important fields of endeavor must be that of maintaining for the nation's children the institutions and services which insure healthy, happy and intelligent citizens of tomorrow. She added:

"Our public schools have a greater task than that of imparting information and developing skills. They have the task of instilling the principles of living in a democratic society which guarantees freedom of thought and expression.

"Democracy is never really safe. Its greatest danger lies in the apathy of those who live under it.

"We must help America to be strong through the strength that comes from practicing her ideals. We must help her prepare to defend democracy today and live democracy tomorrow."

RAF Raids Forced Desert War Victory

Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent, who here analyzes Britain's air tactics in the North African campaign, has covered the sweep against the Italians from Egypt across eastern Libya since in started, Dec. 8.—Editor's Note.

By EDWARD KENNEDY

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN LIBYA, Feb. 18 (AP)—Destruction of nearly 500 Italian airplanes on the ground stands out as one of the chief reasons for the success of Great Britain's Egyptian-Libyan campaign.

In the 600-mile advance from Matruh, Egypt, to the Tripolitanian frontier, the RAF adopted tactics which proved so important to the success of the Germans in their conquests of the lowlands and France last year.

They smashed Italian communications, pounded strongholds like artillery, strafed retreating columns, spotted troop concentrations and patrolled the air over the British ground forces.

REDUCED TO JUNK

But just as important, if not more so, in the opinion of military observers, were operations against Italian airfields, where lie as evidence of the force of the British attacks a sizeable air armada reduced to junk before it could take to the air.

By actual count at one of Libya's nine leading airports—Benina—there were 100 wrecked planes. At El Adem there were 87, at Berka 40, and at each of three others 22. The number ranged to as few as seven seaplanes destroyed at the seaplane base of Bomba.

The exponent of this "destroy 'em on the ground" method of aerial warfare is Air Commodore Raymond Collishaw of Vancouver, British Columbia, who commands the RAF in the desert.

WORLD WAR ACE

An ace in the World War, Collishaw was given the task of directing the desert air warfare under direction of Air Marshal Sir Arthur Longmore, commander of the British Mediterranean air force with headquarters at Cairo.

No respecter of tradition, the bristling, square-jawed Collishaw added his ideas to General Headquarters commands, with the result that an Italian air superiority estimated at perhaps two to one at the start of the campaign was reversed.

"Collie," as his fliers call him, introduced a new weapon in his war against planes on the ground. He ordered his fliers to use a bomb originally intended almost exclusively for destruction of troops, rather than material.

SPRAYED SHRAPNEL

Instead of the delayed fuse type designed to pock an airfield with craters and wreck hangars, Collishaw's men loaded up with bombs which exploded on impact and sprayed shrapnel radially a thousand yards from the explosion point.

Such missiles did little damage to the airport buildings or fields, but the sharp fragments of metal punctured fuselages, propellers and even motors, thus putting Italian planes out of service.

Collishaw, who brought down 60 German airplanes in the World War to rank second among all British Empire pilots, began his career as an officer in the Canadian navy, where he served for six years in the prosaic duty of fishery protection.

He transferred to the British naval air service at the outbreak of the World War and from 1916 on commanded squadrons.

He joined the Royal Air Force when it was formed. He has been assigned to Egypt for several years. He took command of the desert forces shortly before Italy declared war on Britain.

As the conquering British moved westward, Collishaw's headquarters advanced deep into Libya—where a few years ago Collishaw visited the late Italian Air Marshal Italo Balbo.

Harriman to Get London Aid Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (INS)—President Roosevelt today prepared to advance British aid another step by dispatching Averell Harriman, New York financier, to London to help administer the program, once Congress enacts the lease-lend bill.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was learned, will shortly name Harriman as an aide to the new ambassador, John G. Winant, to handle details of the program in London.

Harriman, 49-year-old broker and director of numerous corporations, is a member of the President's business advisory council and formerly was its chairman. What title he will have on his new job was not disclosed, but it was known he will not fill the recently-created post of minister to Britain.

BARONESS RAVENSDALE
Raid Shelters' Queen

London Slum Dwellers Have 'Queen' of Own

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—She has a room in a swank hotel, but she doesn't sleep there much.

She's so busy in the slums, helping poor families during and after air raids, it's more convenient just to sleep at Paddy's Goose.

Dork workers call her the "Queen of the Shelters," though her real name is Lady Mary Irene Ravensdale, and her father once was viceroy of India.

Forty-five-year-old Lady Ravensdale moved to the dock district after her home was bombed early in the war.

Paddy's Goose, where she spends the nights except when there's no bombing, is a notorious pub. She spends plenty of her own money there on cocoa, tea and sandwiches for the homeless.

Twenty bombs have fallen within 50 yards of the "Goose" and the windows have been blasted out of rooms where Lady Ravensdale and her homeless friends were sleeping.

Lady Ravensdale shudders at the suggestion she is doing anything heroic. She explains:

"It's just a job. After all, I've lost only a home. I know plenty who've lost whole families."

Ethiopians' Aid Claimed by Italy

ROME, Feb. 18 (AP)—Organization of a native Ethiopian army to fight invading British colonial forces was reported today from Asmara, Italian Eritrea, by Stefani, official Italian news agency.

It said the army would be headed by and enemies of Haile Selassie.

(British reports in Cairo today said Ethiopian forces loyal to the Italian-ousted emperor had driven Italian troops from important positions in Gojjam province.—Editor's note.)

Ras Gugsa, son-in-law of Haile Selassie, who was the first important Ethiopian chieftain to go over to Italy during the invasion in 1935-36, was named as the main figure in the native pro-Fascist forces.

The Stefani report described Ethiopian chieftains as summoning natives to mass meetings, beating the war drums and haranguing their followers on Italy's behalf.

Secret Electric Eye Foiling Night Raids

By ROBERT E. BUNNELLE

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—A range-finder with the speed of an electric eye is directing the fire of Britain's anti-aircraft guns in what has been described here as an entirely new type of co-ordinated air-ground warfare against night bombers.

Increasing experience of the gun crews and picked night fighter pilots in operating in the dark, plus a new night defense scheme and advantages gained by use of the faster range-finder, were said to have enabled the British to knock out of the skies greater numbers of invading planes.

Although German air activity over Britain in January was on a comparatively small scale, British anti-aircraft gunners were credited with bagging 11 night raiders Night fighter planes reported bringing down four, and three crashed for reasons not disclosed officially.

LOW TOLL IN BLITZ

So far this month, seven have been destroyed—all but two by anti-aircraft fire.

Last November, a month of heavy air warfare, only 14 night raiders were shot down, although they came in hundreds. In December, only 10 were bagged at night. That month, too, the raiders were over England in large numbers, night after night.

Sources here estimated not more than 1200 Nazi planes were over Britain at night during the whole month of January, whereas in November the total of night raiders was thought to have been 5000.

On the basis of these figures, the January ratio of "kills" was approximately four times greater than during November.

The new predictor (range finder) has been a hush-hush device, but this much has leaked through official secrecy: it is a sort of lightning calculator which at least makes a stab at getting around the big difficulty in range-finding—the ratio between the speed of attacking planes and the speed at which the sound of their motors travels.

OLD PREDICTORS FAILED

The old predictors failed to work satisfactorily because by the time a plane flying at 15,000 feet was heard by mechanical ears it would be as much as three miles from where it was detected.

Coordination of defenses and increasing experience were said, however, to be even greater factors toward solving the night bomber problem than the use of the new range finder.

The new tactical system involves a combination of the use of searchlights, anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes equipped with two-way radios by which they can be guided by ground observers.

For ground observation purposes, the sky is divided into cubes of responsibility, with each observer assigned a specific cube.

When the action starts, guns and searchlights switch from one cube on group of cubes to another, letting night fighters take over, and vice versa.

USE SOME U. S. PLANES

Night fighter pilots—especially picked for ability to see in the dark—get special diets, including heavy rations of carrots and cod-liver oil.

They also receive special training, and there are a number of RAF posts where the night air is almost literally filled with students of the special technique.

These night pilots are using mostly Bolton Paul two-seaters, Blenheim fighter-bombers and Hurricanes, but some American-made planes also are coming into use.

Ground fog is one wet blanket on night fighting.

Willkie Stakes All On Martin

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (INS)—Wendell Willkie today has placed his prestige as titular leader of the Republican party at stake by personally urging G. O. P. House Leader Joseph W. Martin to remain in office as Republican national chairman.

His appeal to the Massachusetts Representative to stay on as head of the Republican national committee marks the first time since presidential campaign of 1940 that Willkie has acted in his capacity as titular leader of the party. It was Willkie who personally chose Martin for the post at the start of the last campaign.

MARTIN WEIGHS PLEA

Martin, who has been trying to quit ever since the elections, announced after his conference with Willkie:

"Since Mr. Willkie was kind enough to ask me to stay on, I will take the matter under advisement."

To friends Martin said:

"I am still hoping to quit. My resignation will be submitted to the committee March 24."

Two theories are reported as being behind Willkie's personal appeal to Martin. The first, friends say, is that the 1940 G. O. P. nominee fears party discord will develop over filling of the position if Martin quits.

The second his foes say, is that Willkie will be unable to name the successor to Martin, and rather than face such a defeat, he hopes Martin will remain, thereby preserving his prestige as titular head of the party.

RIFT OVER WILLKIE

Thus far, there has been no agreement among Republican leaders on a successor to Martin. A new move is under way among congressional Republicans to draft former Senator John G. Townsend of Delaware as chairman, while naming a Midwesterner as executive director of the committee on a full time salaried basis.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—How this item got out of police headquarters without being censored is a mystery, but here it is:

Two detectives, seeing a junkman struggling to load a 200-pound beer cooler on his wagon at a bar near headquarters, volunteered to help the junkie. Job done, they returned to the tavern and told the proprietor. The owner, who had just installed a new cooler, first scowled, then guffawed.

The sleuths had helped the junkie steal the cooler.

Bay State Deaths Up; T. B. in Decline

Deaths increased by 345 in Massachusetts during 1940, it was revealed today in the annual report of Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook.

The increase over 1939 showed 51,252 persons died here last year, with heart disease topping the list as the cause for 18,109 deaths. Tuberculosis showed another decline, with a total of 1475 deaths, 30 less than the 1939 figure.

WINANT HOME, GETS SET FOR LONDON POST

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 18—John G. Winant, U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain, arrived home today to address the New Hampshire legislature and to put his home in order for his coming departure for London.

How soon he would depart he would not say save that it would be "soon" and that he did not plan to again visit Washington before leaving.

Ambassador Winant said he would make the trip by Clipper plane abroad alone and that Mrs. Winant would join him sometime later.

Unusually secretive, the new envoy refused completely to discuss the international situation but was most gracious in his refusal.

Also joining the Winants here was their daughter, Constance, who was wed in a surprise marriage Feb. 9 to Carlos Valando in Peru. The newlyweds arrived here by train following a brief visit in New York.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Winant was studying at National University at Lima, Peru, where she met her husband. No hint of romance reached Concord until announcement of the wedding.

Kirstein Backs Medical Plan

A legislative measure calling for a state-wide non-profit medical service plan today found new support and indorsement by Louis E. Kirstein, prominent Bostonian and head of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies.

In a statement, Kirstein expressed belief that the bill was "soundly conceived" because it is being sponsored by the Massachusetts Medical Society.

Navy Regulations Ban Dog, Master Reunion

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 18 (AP)—Capt. Henry Gearing, commanding officer of the naval training station, said today Navy regulations would not permit a reunion here between Poochie, pining pup of Tyler, Tex., and its master, Jack Washmon, a station recruit.

"There are various reasons why pets are not allowed here," Capt. Gearing said, "but the major reason the dog could not reside at the station is that Navy regulations would not permit it."

Academy officials said that President Roosevelt will broadcast a 15-minute special message to the film colony during the dinner, for which Comedian Bob Hope was named master of ceremonies.

Darlan Goes To See Laval

VICHY, France, Feb. 18 (AP)—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan left for Paris today where he was expected to confer again with former Vice-Premier Pierre Laval and Otto Abetz, German representative in occupied France.

Fernand de Brinon, French government representative in Paris, also was expected to join the talks.

The French press was permitted to mention merely that Darlan had departed for Paris. Political sources said, however, the impression was that negotiations with Leval and the Germans might not result in any immediate developments, and it was considered unlikely that Laval would return to Vichy with Darlan.

BRITISH CIVILIAN CASUALTY TOLL TOPS 55,370 IN RAIDS

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The ministry of home security announced today 1502 civilians were killed and 2012 injured by air raids in Great Britain during January.

The civilian toll of the war since June 18, 1940 (when the battle for Britain began) was announced Jan. 20 as 23,081 dead and 32,296 injured.

Of those killed in January 720 were men, 567 women and 189 children under 16, the announcement said. The injured included 171 men, 672 women and 158 children under 16. Twenty-six of those listed as killed were unclassified.

This compared with a December toll of civilian casualties totalling 3793 killed and 5044 injured.

A ministry of health psychologist reported today that during December only 25 persons applied for admission to London's two special centers for the treatment of bombing neurosis, while outside London, three sought treatment.

Sir Wilson Jameson, chief medical officer of the ministry of health, discussing the psychologist's report, said:

"It's truly amazing how the people are standing up to it."

London Air Shelter Bombed

at first supposed, although it was nowhere very heavy."

Daylight raiders were reported back again today over the east coast, western England and central Scotland.

Hospitals and bathhouses in the vicinity of the bombed London shelter were crowded with injured. Doctors labored in the wreckage by flashlight to give first aid to the victims.

Among those who escaped injury was Marshal Charles Winters.

"I should have been by the blast doors when the bomb fell, and I wouldn't have had a chance," he declared, "but I walked up the shelter to tell some boys to be quiet. I was half stunned, my coat was blown off and my torch was gone.

"All around people were moaning and trying to move. I kept telling them to stay where they were—that stretcher bearers would be along.

"Two nurses at a first aid post near the entrance were killed. The blast doors had been blown into the shelter, killing many. Finally help came. Three doctors gave injections."

The raiders started several fires in London, the Ministries of Air and Home Security acknowledged, but all were said to have been extinguished quickly or brought under control. Damage was described as slight "in general."

Nazis Claim Hits on Hull Industrial Plants

BERLIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—Nazi air raiders started explosions in an industrial section southeast of Hull, England, yesterday and fired an oil depot on Moray Firth, North Scotland, the German high command said today.

Warehouses on the Shetland Islands were attacked and, in another assault a 4000-ton ship was sunk, a communique said.

Last night, it declared, strong combat plane units dropped incendiaries and explosives on London.

The Germans acknowledged losses of two planes, but said they had shot down one British aircraft and five barrage balloons.

DNB, official German news agency, reported a raiding German warship—the name of which was not mentioned—had sunk 120,000 tons of merchant shipping, thereby topping the record of the World War merchant raider Moewe.

You Can Be Beautiful

A Wonderful Eye Cream

By ARLINE GOULD

BEAUTIFUL EYES are the gift of the gods . . . youthfully moist, crease-free skin around starry orbs . . . is too often merely an object of wishful thinking . . . with gadding smart-setters and efficient career-girls alike. Unhappily, the crow's feet and squint lines . . . acquired with equal ease lolling in bright southern sun . . . or typing letters . . . make a dreary setting for anyone's love light!

From 16 to 65 . . . over-study . . . over-fatigue . . . over-worry . . . record their network of tiny lines on the sensitive epidermis surrounding the eyes . . . and all too many of us neglect the youth-preserving precaution of a really good cream to rout these enemies of loveliness.

More often than not . . . one neglects to use an eye cream . . . because the richest, purest lubricants necessary in an effective eye-cream make the cost prohibitive . . . so when one of America's truly outstanding beauty houses offers its eye emollient cream, one of the finest obtainable at any price . . . as a gift, that's news.

For just a few days more . . . through Friday . . . one Boston store offers this miracle making lubricant . . . especially compounded for delicate skin around the eyes . . . makes an astounding gift offer . . . for with any purchase of $2 or over . . . you will be presented . . . free . . . with the dollar size jar of the emollient.

With gentle finger-tips . . . rub in the cream faithful each night . . . snatch all the rest and relaxation you can steal from busy days and gala evening . . . and in a week . . . your mirror will be an old flatterer . . . for that delicate epidermis around your delighted eyes will be . . . soft and satiny . . . moist and dewy . . . and those telltale traceries of wear and tear will be simply non-existant . . . you'll call the famous beautician offering this wonder-cream a true fairy godmother.

Another loveliness hint . . . if eye shadow by day seems garish . . . just touch your lids with this emollient treasure . . . and, while your skin benefits . . . your eyes will bloom in the spring . . . with the lustre it lends parched, tired lids!

We know you can't do without this gift of eye-glamour . . . so phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, weekdays except Saturday, or write care of the Boston American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to learn where it can be had as a gift.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

I BROKE my necklace. The beads rolled about on the floor.

Now they were nothing—only shattered bits of brightness; and scattered like that, they meant nothing.

I sat holding the broken string in my hand, thinking.

A man's life is like that, I thought. A man's life is like a necklace—so many little things strung on one string!

LITTLE ACTS, little experiences, little thoughts, desires, plans, moods, all strung on one string—one secret string of purpose, or faith.

And when they are strung together like that, a man's life means something; even the smallest part of a man's life has value and significance.

But if a man's life isn't strung together—if there isn't one purpose in him, or one faith, that runs through everything why, then, his life is as meaningless as a broken necklace—just scattered beads, flung aimlessly about.

And I thought of the empty, unhappy faces I pass every day; of the empty, unhappy people who write to me, asking me if life is worth while—asking me what life is all about.

It is so plain that many of their lives are about nothing.

They have friends, work, health, food, clothes. They go places and do things. They even appear merry at times—feel a little excitement.

And yet—there is something wrong. They aren't getting anything out of life.

Life has no meaning for them because they do not put any meaning into it. They have no purpose, no plan, no strong, central belief, or desire, or faith on which to string their separate acts and desires.

They have things. They do things. Things happen to them, and in them. But the things do not hold together. There is nothing to hold them together. So they amount to nothing. They are like bright beads, shattered aimlessly about.

And there are other people—sometimes very simple people who have very little, do very little. Yet their lives have great meaning for [illegible]. They have something in them that gives meaning to everything!

Sometimes it is LOVE—a love that warms and colors every smallest act and desire.

Sometimes it is AMBITION—an ambition that puts everything to account.

Sometimes it is WORK—the pride of doing a good job; the thought of serving the whole world through that job.

Sometimes it is HUNGER FOR TRUTH—and if there is that hunger in a man, his soul will feed on every scrap that comes its way. Nothing is too ugly, or too dangerous, or too mysterious or too trivial for such a man's consideration.

AND SOMETIMES—and this, I think, is the strongest string of all on which a man's life may be strung—sometimes it is FAITH IN GOD.

If Faith runs through a man, nothing can tear him apart. Life, for him, can never lose its meaning.

Ketchup a Magic Spice

By MARTHA LEE

WHEN POURING a bit of ketchup over a steak or adding some of its scarlet spiciness to a stew, it is interesting to recall the different facts that are known about its beginning, for here is a story full of mystery and romance and high adventure.

The story starts with the tomato, which is the basis of the sauce; and the earliest information on this fruit comes from the sixteenth century history which describes Pizarro's discovery of the luxurious Incan civilization of Peru. But even before this the spices which enrich its flavor were being fought for, and new sea routes by which they could be obtained were being mapped. And here is where the mystery comes in—the person who first thought of combining the spices and tomatoes to make the delicious sauce remains unknown and unsung.

HAS MANY USES

Coming back to the present, one discovers that ketchup has varied uses in flavoring foods. Not only is it a sauce to be poured on meats and vegetables at the table, but home makers keep a bottle of it on the condiment shelf and use its delicious blend of flavoring to season different foods. It is particularly valuable when it comes to making the cheaper cuts of meat taste as delicious as tender steaks. The following recipes illustrate this use of ketchup:

BRAISED BEEF WITH VEGETABLES

4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
3 lbs. beef, round or shoulder
1 cup diced carrots
1 cup diced turnips
1 cup diced onions
1 cup chopped celery
2½ cups hot water
½ cup tomato ketchup

Sprinkle salt and pepper over the beef and dredge with flour; then brown in fat. Place the meat in a deep pan and surround with vegetables. Combine the hot water and ketchup and pour this mixture over the meat and vegetables. Cover closely and bake in a slow oven (350 deg. F.) about 2 hours. Turn meat once during the cooking. During the last hour place whole peeled potatoes around the meat, if desired. If the sauce around the meat is not as thick as desired, continue cooking on top of the stove after removing the meat and vegetables, or thicken slightly with flour blended with water.

BREADED COLD MEATS

6 ¼-inch slices left-over meat (roast beef, pork, veal or ham)
1 cup tomato ketchup
1 cup rice flakes, crushed or bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Dip the slices of meat in the tomato ketchup, then in the crushed rice flakes or bread crumbs. Be sure each slice is coated completely. Fry in hot fat until a golden brown. Season with salt and pepper. Serve with vegetables.

KETCHUP MEAT LOAF

1 lb. fresh pork
½ lb. smoked ham
1 cup rice flakes
1 egg
1-3 cup tomato ketchup
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Grind pork and ham together twice; add other ingredients. Form into a loaf, then place in a greased roaster and sprinkle with flour. Sear in a very hot oven (500 deg. F.) until brown. Pour ½ cup water around loaf, cover and continue cooking in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 1 hour. After searing, sweet and Irish potatoes may be placed around loaf, if desired. This loaf may be served cold and makes excellent sandwiches for packed lunches. The rice flakes hold the meat together so it slices easily hot or cold. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BILL SWIFT, who will be married to Phyllis Childs of Lexington this week-end, will have one advantage over most husbands.

Each calendar will have the date of his wedding anniversary printed in red or italics, so it will be pretty hard for him to take the path to the doghouse so familiar to most husbands, by forgetting roses and candy on the anniversary.

By happy coincidence Phyllis and Bill have chosen for their wedding the day which happens to be the birthday of that famous woodsman who didn't spare the cherry tree—George Washington—and a great deal more entertaining than usual will surround the father of our country's birthday this year because of the partying in honor of the bridal couple . . .

On the day of the wedding there will be two large luncheons—one given by Mrs. George Childs, grandmother of the bride, for older members of the family and out-of-town guests . . . and another at which post debs Marjorie Spears and Jean Stowell Cullen will entertain the bridesmaids and ushers . . .

POST DEB ELLEN MANAHAN of Boston and J. Edward Downes of Winchester enjoy a merry chat with members of their foursome between dances in the Somerset's Balinese Room. Miss Manahan, daughter of the Ernest Manahans of Marlborough st., was presented to society in the winter of '32-33.

The partying got off to a good start on Sunday at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell Tenney of Lexington, parents of the bride . . . Tomorrow afternoon all concerned will gather for tea at the home of Mrs. Charles D'Autremont of Lexington, and in the evening Jean Clark is giving a dinner for the bridal party . . .

Thursday's whirl of partying includes Constance Ann MacBride's dinner at her father's home in Waban, and on Friday there are no less than three parties—a luncheon by Nancy Delano of Waban, cocktails at Mrs. Lyon Carter's and a rehearsal dinner at Mrs. Calvin M. Childs' . . .

Plenty of Food for Thought

THERE WILL BE PLENTY of food for thought in the after-dinner discussion to be held at the Women's City Club Thursday evening when members gather to hear Dr. Dirk H. van der Stucken speak on "The Problems of Defense of Democracy" . . . Dr. van der Stucken is a member of the faculty of Phillips Academy . . .

Mrs. F. Winchester Denio is chairman of the committee sponsoring the affair and those planning to attend include Miss Mary Bradlee, Miss Sarah F. Bradlee, Miss Leslie Hopkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ballou, Miss Lucille Huber, Miss Ruth Bailey, Mrs. Roland V. Baker, Miss Bertha M. Langmaid, Miss Lucy Lowell, Miss Edith Foster, Mrs. Frederick W. Stetson, Mrs. Lois B. Rantoul, Mrs. Samuel Usher, Mrs. Lawrence Whitcomb, Miss Alice Parker, Miss Clara H. Sampson and Mrs. Samuel Murray . . .

For those who enjoy American folk music the Club will present the dramatic soprano, Lorraine Foster, in a program of Southern melodies and mountain folk songs, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock . . .

Ballet Russe Dinners

DINNER CHIMES will sound early in many fashionable homes this evening before the opening performance of the original Ballet Russe at the Opera House . . . Since the performance is for the benefit of Greek War Relief, a brilliant and aristocratic audience will be on hand to do its bit . . .

Among the early dinner hostesses will be Mrs. William Tudor Gardiner and her debutante daughter, Margaret, who are entertaining the 46 debs and Harvardians who are to sell flowers and programs . . .

Mrs. Valentine Hollingsworth is giving a dinner party for friends of her son, Mark, and another gay throng will gather round the festive board at Mrs. John Gardner Coolidge's.

Post Debs Take Part in Concert

Post debs Hazel Wightman and Elizabeth Osborne will be featured as duo-piano soloists in the forthcoming concert to be given by the Junior League Orchestra in the League ballroom, Wednesday evening, March 5th. Miss Wightman has been gaining experience and poise for her public appearance by playing groups of piano solos at the concerts staged throughout the winter at various settlement houses and hospitals.

Miss Peggy Stuart, only woman conductor of a Junior League orchestra in the country, has helped to make the concerts both educational and entertaining for children in settlement houses by giving short talks on each selection played as well as demonstrations of the various musical instruments.

Mrs. Earl Gibson, Miss Carol McCormick and Miss E. Valentine Wetmore of Boston, and Mrs. Josephine Sullivan of Lowell are vacationing at Miami where they joined the throng of race fans at Hialeah Park over the week-end.

Arboretum Club In Fete

150 Couples Make Merry

More than 150 Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury couples made merry at the 11th annual dinner dance of the Arboretum Club last evening in the Copley Plaza's Sheraton Room.

It was an evening of dancing, entertainment and fun, without speeches save for the briefest of welcomes given the membership by Mayor Tobin and former Gov. Curley, both long-time favorites of the organization.

Guests were greeted by the club's president, Mrs. G. Frank McDonald, in gold sequin jacket and ruby red velvet gown and orchid corsage, and by Mrs. Gerald Cusick, chairman of the party, who wore sapphire blue.

Among the many attendants were Mrs. Raymond Connolly, dressed in gay print, and Miss Helen Murray, in purple dinner gown, trimmed in sequins.

Others included Mrs. Mary McGinnis, in royal blue trimmed in silver sequins; Mrs. John A. Donahue, in emerald and white crepe. Mrs. Edward Abbott, who wore a navy blue with rhinestone clips; Mrs. Frances Devlen in lipstick red; Mrs. Laurence McHugh, dressed in black jacket and flowered print; Mrs. Lester Killian, in silver and black lame jacket and crepe skirt, and Mrs. Edward Devaney, in wine and beige lace.

The whims of King Winter mean little to Mr. and Mrs. August W. Moser of Newtonville, who have gone South to bask in the warm sunny climate at Miami Beach. Together with Mr. William Schrafft, Mr. Robert Jewell and Mr. Henry Marsh of Winchester, they are guests at the Pancoast Hotel.

THE old nursery fable about the goose that laid the golden eggs should interest Mrs. Roosevelt, busy and not always practical wife of the President.

Asked yesterday in Washington what civilians could do to help the nation's defense program, the First Lady suggested with characteristic glibness that individuals might refrain from buying new automobiles, aluminum kitchen utensils and certain foods.

Then, she went on, the people could put into government bonds the money they would ordinarily spend for these commodities.

It is too bad Mrs. Roosevelt did not find time to tell us what is going to happen to the Americans who work in the automobile, kitchen utensil and food industries.

Twenty thousand men and women who earn wages totalling $20,345,000 a year for making aluminum pots, pans and kettles would like to know.

So would four hundred thousand technicians, mechanics and laborers who receive $550,414,000 for building automobile motors and bodies.

And so, too, would two hundred and twenty-five thousand persons who are being paid $225,000,000 a year for baking bread, pies and cakes.

How long will their wages and salaries continue if the rest of the people take Mrs. Roosevelt's advice seriously.

When their incomes cease, how are these former employes of plowed-under industries going to buy government bonds?

AMERICA FIRST is a phrase that scarcely any American will repudiate.

AMERICA FIRST in its true conception means these things:

1. That our country shall not be sacrificed in the wars of other countries.

2. That DEFENSE is more vital to us than offense.

3. That no American soldier shall be sent to Europe or Asia for purposes of invasion.

4. That Congress must not abdicate its Constitutional power as the DOMINANT FACTOR in our democracy.

5. That we have no political or economic program for any country except our own.

6. That we must, at all hazards, retain our civil liberties.

7. That the only form of propaganda that shall be permitted in our schools and state-supported colleges is AMERICANISM.

8. That while we may extend all help necessary to Britain within the limits of our Neutrality Law, we must not overstep those limits if it means OUR ENTERING THE WAR.

9. That if we ever enter this war we shall unquestionably come out AMERICA LAST—for, as George Washington truly said, "no nation is to be trusted farther than it is bound by its own interest." Europe and Asia will have no interest in us after we have won the war for some one or other.

10. That instead of carrying the "blessings of democracy" to the rest of the world we had better see to it that more of those blessings are bestowed on US, for the "blessings" in Washington are rapidly being transformed into ukases.

That, we think, is what, in the main, AMERICA FIRST [illegible]

Therefore AMERICA FIRST means AMERICA FOR AMERICANS as the Founding Fathers conceived it and brought it to life.

BOSTON PEOPLE believe in AMERICA FIRST, and they want their country to be prepared to defend itself AT HOME.

The experience of Mr. Thomas B. Hassett, collector of internal revenue, convincingly demonstrates this Yankee patriotism.

Never before were income tax payers in this area so prompt in filing their returns.

Never before were they so willing to make their payments in lump sums, rather than in quarterly amounts.

Mr. Hassett says:

"The attitude of a business man with whom I talked last Thursday is typical.

"When I asked this man if he wished to make a partial payment, he said:

"'This year I have made up my mind to pay my tax all at one time. If young men can leave their jobs to serve for a year in the Army, I ought to be able to do something, too.'"

Other persons, Mr. Hassett has discovered, have insisted on paying more than they actually owe the government.

Frequently, they write notes, saying:

"The extra amount is my contribution to defense. It is the least I can do in this emergency."

It is very probable that most of these patriots do not favor re-armament programs that propose to assist Britain and other European and Asiatic nations to the extent of impairing our own American defenses.

But the important thing is that the average taxpayer has faith in America and is ready and willing to support America in a reasonable and practical manner.

On The Side

NOTHING has changed the opinion of this department that the most interesting game played with a cue and an ivory ball is that known as "Chicago" or "Rotation" pool. As for the six best pictures of 1940, why argue? Everybody knows they were: "All This and Heaven, Too," "Kitty Foyle," "Pride and Prejudice," "The Great McGinty," "Arise My Love," and "The Long Voyage Home." If you want to make it the seven best, add "Down Argentine Way." Basil James is, of course, America's greatest jockey. We all think that Porter's Cap will win the Kentucky Derby. I continued to feel the most abused item on the country's bill of fares is coffee. That which is called coffee in most places is a curious culinary concoction carelessly conceived. "Oh, coffee" we heard a restaurant patron recently cry, "what crimes are committed in thy name!" And there was that often referred to man who said bitterly to the waitress: "If this is coffee, bring me tea, and if it is tea bring me coffee."

PASSING BY: Mrs. Thomas H. Roulston. Happy matrimonial partner of the well-known Brooklyn grocer. Mrs. Roulston is the former Marjorie Hillis and when a bachelor girl wrote that classic of consolation for unmarried females, "Live Alone and Like It" . . . Man passing is wearing a derby, sometimes referred to as an "Iron Hat." I once wore a derby but discarded it upon insistent request of my feminine companion. But I like a derby. Remember a girl in Meriden, Ct., saying to me admiringly: "You look like a Yale man" . . . Westbrook Pegler. Intense commentator. A fine fellow and one whose handling of the written word is not unlike that of the late Dean Swift. Mr. Pegler seems somewhat in accord with Mon. Rostand's Cyrano de Bergerac, who said: "To offend is my pleasure; I love to be hated."

CONFIDENTIAL: A good stenographer should be able to take dictation at the rate of at least 120 words a minute. Have heard of an executive, with the use of a stop watch, gives his secretary monthly dictation tests. Why not try this in your office? Or are you hen-pecked by the office wife? . . . "Not so long ago, the barber shops were crowded with women getting haircuts. Now you rarely see a woman in barber shops. Why?" writes a Chicagoan. Asked a manicurist about this. She said: "Women prefer beauty shops for hair cuts because the conversation there is more interesting. A visit to a beauty shop is better than reading a dozen gossip columns. In a barber shop what do you hear, nothing but a lot of male dopes asking each other what they think about the war situation."

-t- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Monday—Last evening we had a little party to celebrate Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr.'s birthday, which really does not occur until some time this week. Our only guests besides the secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau were Mr. Harry Hopkins, who arrived from New York just in time for dinner, and Mlle. Eve Curie, who is spending 24 hours with us between lectures.

On this visit Mlle. Curie has been in the Middle West, and shortly she will start on a long lecture trip which will take her all the way to the West Coast. She has lived in England ever since she left France, and I think there must be moments when our whole mentality in this country must seem like an unreal dream to her.

There is no use denying that seeing the bombs drop, even if they do not hit you, puts a different perspective on life. The thing which impresses me in talking with Mlle. Curie is the minuteness of organization which is required under conditions such as many of the English people are now living. This is so particularly in the industrial towns.

THE CONTRASTS ever over in Britain are very great and make it easier to see why we can feel as remote as we do. The block by block organization for every eventuality where bombs are dropping, for instance, and the remote highland home where people still live their usual daily lives as though nothing unusual were going on, show what a few miles can do to make understanding of conditions difficult.

This week testimonials are being paid all over the nation to Mr. Paderewski because this year 1941 is the golden anniversary of his debut in the United States. He has given endless pleasure to people throughout this country and, in addition, he has many times contributed from his earnings to our charities.

This testimonial week is our opportunity to offer him not only the homage of music but a substantial contribution which he will be able to use for the good of his country.

I WONDER if you have been receiving as many recent appeals for aid for China as have been coming to me. Perhaps you feel a little confused.

I confess that I have occasionally, but here are two things which appeal to me particularly. One is the development of the Chinese cooperatives, because that is something which is helping the people of China to help themselves.

The other is the work of the China emergency relief committee, which is putting on a drive at the present time to raise a million dollars by June for medical supplies for China.

This organization, for which Pearl Buck and Vincent Sheean and numerous other people have done so much, is working in cooperation with the China medical aid.

BERNIE SAYS JOLSON LOST WAGER

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—Last November, when the Al Jolson show was playing to standees, Ben Bernie asked Al about his plans for a Miami vacation. "Oh, no," Jolson vowed. "With a hit show on my hands after being away from Broadway for so many years, I'm not going South" . . . With witnesses present to certify the wager, Bernie thereupon made a $250 bet with Jolson that when the first vacationer returned from the South, with a tan heavier than Al's, the star would pack up and go . . . Bernie now is trying to collect that bet. Jolson has affidavits from his physician, attesting that it was his health and not a longing for Miami, which impelled the trip. But Bernie insists upon collecting—and concedes: "I win on a technicality—but I win."

WHEN Charlie Chaplin visited the White House he sat across the table from the President—who began to discuss "The Great Dictator" and its censorship in South America . . . Chaplin indicated that he'd rather discuss another subject . . . "I'd like to talk about monetary systems," said Chaplin, who has two million dollars invested in "The Great Dictator." "I know you haven't the time now, but when I come back I'd like to talk over the Treasury's wonderful fiscal policy—where, with the stroke of a pen, gold reserves and millions can be altered and saved."

Mark Warnow will offer a concert of contemporary American music at Carnegie Hall in May. He'll augment his 45-piece orchestra with 50 instrumentalists . . . Jack Rieger, who supervises the production of all the prize fight pictures, will beat MGM to the showing of a third-dimension Stereoscoptic picture . . . Jimmy Stewart will sing for the first time in James Roosevelt's "Pot O' Gold." His song will be "When Johnny Toots His Horn."

DORIS NOLAN went to Georgia last month to appear in a commercial movie. While on location the local citizenry tendered a barbecue in honor of the movie visitors. Miss Nolan tasted one of the delicacies and asked her host: "What's the name of this fish?" . . . "Hushpuppies," he informed. "They're served down here all the time" . . . "Hushpuppies?" repeated the star. "That's an odd name for a fish. I never heard of it before" . . . "We just call it that," the host explained, "because when we go hunting and sleep in the open our dogs sometimes wake us with their barking—and whenever that happens we toss 'em a hunk of this fish and it quiets 'em."

ZORINA, called to the stage at the Press Photographers Ball, nervously confessed: "For the first time in my life I wish I were Milton Berle" . . . Richard Knight, the man who stood on his head at the Metropolitan, approached Dolores del Rio's table at Fefe's Monte Carlo and greeted her as a friend of long standing. The star politely hinted that she never had met him. "When I met you," he reminded, "I also met your husband—Frank Chapman." Miss Del Rio replied: "In that case, I remember the meeting very well—if my name is Gladys Swarthout."

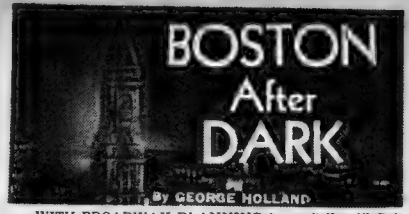
HOWARD HUGHES has offered Paramount $300,000 for the rights they purchased to "Lady in the Dark" . . . Jerome Weidman has been receiving 20 marriage proposals a day because the editors of a magazine for whom he wrote an article called "Women Have Been Blind to Me"—added a postscript, without his knowledge, reading: "All communications addressed to Mr. Weirman should be accompanied by a photograph or reasonable facsimile" . . . Lillian Mowrer—whose husband, Richard Mowrer, now is in the Balkans—is en route to the African front to do her own coverage.



WITH BROADWAY PLANNING to go "all-out" Saturday night in a tremendous "Carnival for Britain," a Boston benefit for British War Relief is to be staged Thursday night . . . The New York jamboree is being sponsored by the "American Theater Wing," but Producer Dwight Deere Wiman is taking responsibility solo for the Boston affair.

WIMAN PRODUCTIONS have been playing to appreciative audiences here since the wealthy ex-Harvardian sponsored "The Gay Divorcee" in the waning '20's . . . "The Vinegar Tree," "On Your Toes," "I Married An Angel" and (most recently) "Old Acquaintance," were Wiman productions.

THE THURSDAY NIGHT SHOW is the first "one night only" presentation yet to appear under Mr. Wiman's aegis . . . The Copley-Plaza Hotel will be the scene of the local "Carnival for Britain," and the response to Dwight's bid for volunteers is most heart-warming . . . Walter O'Keefe, who was Wendell L. Willkie's campaign master of ceremonies, will be on hand Thursday, to serve in a similar capacity . . . (Here's one Willkie-ite, apparently, who has been converted along with the master).

BILL ROBINSON, DENNIS KING, Sybil Bowan, Dorothy Gish, Louis Calhern, an Albertina Rasch ballet group, Richard Tyler Howell and The Eight Marshalls are among the volunteers . . . A half-dozen other "big names" will certainly add their talents to those herein enumerated, according to word from New York.

MEANTIME, THE COPLEY-PLAZA is debating a purely personal issue within itself—which is to say that Managing Director Arthur L. Race has not yet reached a decision . . . Mr. Race's problem concerns the impending ice revue, featuring Gladys Lamb, the figure-skater, and scheduled to open next Monday night.

THE REVUE is the original octette which converted the New Yorker Hotel Terrace Room from a conventional supper-room into a place where steel blades glistened in the light of the baby-spotlights, and where—if you wished—you could waltz around the ice with a partner

WHEN THE BOSTON ENGAGEMENT was arranged, the choice of space in his hotel was left, naturally, to Mr. Race . . . But the stars of the show arrived in town yesterday, and were charmed by the Sheraton Room . . . Stuart Fraser and his men have been furnishing excellent music there since last October . . . Mr. Race happened to be busy at Taunton, where the local hotel men are convening, but he had left instructions to prepare the main dining room for the plumbers and ice-makers. (Real ice is used.)

MISS LAMB AND HER CO-STAR, the widely-known "Rube" Yokum, decided to hold out for the Sheraton Room . . . A decision is necessary today, because the work of changing a ballroom floor to a miniature ice-rink is considerable.

singer in the heady competition of show business, Miss Carmen remarked: "Blue in the singing voice is preferable to the blues of blood or background."

THIS WEEK MARKS an exceptional anniversary at the Globe Theater—an item of uncommon longevity in a theatrical engagement . . . It is the third anniversary of Harry Ryan, the straight-man, and Irving Benson, the comedian of the Globe's burlesque stock company . . . Signing of John Kimbrough to that fabulous $37,500 salary for part-time work with the New York Yankees and off-season labors of a commercial nature should have a salutary effect on the fortunes of Sheldon Fairbanks' Boston Bears, also of the American Pro Football League . . . When Mr. Fairbanks returns from Miami Beach, news of Bears' acquisitions for next season is expected . . . It appears probable that none of the B. C. '40 team is to become a Bear next season, unfortunately.

THE HAPPIEST LAD IN HOLLYWOOD

By Louella O. Parsons

Jack Oakie

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18—The happiest lad in our town is Jack Oakie, who stands a chance of winning the Golden Oscar for the best supporting performance of the year. A year ago Jack was finding it tough sledding. Then came his caricature of Mussolini in "The Great Dictator" and his performance in "Tin Pan Alley." Furthermore, Jack, who had been a play boy and had taken his job lightly, has suddenly buckled down and can be counted on to be at the studio on the dot without any A. W. O. L.

Studios which had shied away from the fun-loving Oakie, even though he has always been a good actor, began to try to date him for a movie. Well, to get down to brass tacks, George M. Cohan's old stage success, "Song and Dance Man," has been taken out of its wrappings and will be remade for Senor Oakie. He will make it just as soon as he finishes "Navy Blues," and his booster of many years, Harry Joe Brown, will produce it for 20th Century-Fox.

SUSAN HAYWARD

THE OLD ADAGE—"The ripest peach is highest on the three"—is true too often in Hollywood. Susan Hayward had to go out and make a picture at Columbia before Paramount (her studio) would look at her twice. All the critics raved over her performance in "Adam Had Four Sons," although she's been at Paramount a long time without being given any role she could get her teeth into, so to speak.

However, Susan is a philosophical girl and she is not downhearted by any means. In fact today she was on top of the world when I talked with her. She and Will Price, a schoolmate of Tyrone Power, and young Bill Walsh, have gone into the ice cream business and they have the cutest ice cream parlor you'll ever see. Bob Cobb went in the other night and ordered every flavor and so has Rita Hayworth and her husband.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Don't be surprised if H. B. Warner, well known actor, and Mrs. Miller of Pasadena announce their marriage in a few days; hope it isn't true Grace Hayes and her bridegroom, Newell Chase, are having trouble.

The Warner Studio Club party at the Biltmore was such fun; Bette Davis danced and danced with her bridegroom, Arthur Farnsworth, while Bill Orr and Gene Tierney were an attractive twosome. They were with Jane Wyman and Ronald Regan. At Jack Warner's table were Marlene Dietrich, Reginal Gardiner, Jesse Lasky, Edmund Goulding and many others. The H. M. Warners had the next table and everyone really had fun. Priscilla Lane with John Barry also seemed to be enjoying herself.

Warning to the fish in Mexican waters—Henry Fonda and John Ford are headed in that direction.

The Danny Dankers gave one of the nicest small parties of the year in honor of their house guests, the Carroll Doyles; Don Ameches, who had to drive to the valley (and it wasn't any fun in the rain) were among the last to leave; Edgar Bergen came in for a few minutes; Bob Hope stayed until it was time to rehearse and Pat O'Brien, with a fresh batch of stories, entertained, while pretty Eloise, his wife, did a dance specialty and how that girl can dance.

Bob Taplinger welcoming Quentin Reynolds to Hollywood with a cocktail party Thursday. The newspaper clan will turn out to welcome Quentin, who lectures that evening; an interesting Beverly Derby threesome was Al Vanderbilt, Virginia Field and Oscar Levant;

EVERYONE who knows June Clyde is happy for her that she has been given the second lead in the Irene Dunne-Gregory Lacava picture "Unfinished Business," at Universal. June has lived in England with her husband, Thornton Freeland, well known director, for some years and the war brought them back home to Hollywood, where their baby was born on American soil.

She looks so young and pretty and all of her friends have been saying it was a pity some studio didn't give her a break. Well, she has it now with Irene and Robert Montgomery and with that master craftsman, Lacava, megaphoning, Lacava has the faculty of making secondary roles seem important.

LETTERS FROM ENGLAND

This is another in a series of letters from Britons to friends and relatives in Greater Boston.

To: Mrs. E. Lyon,
42 Newbury, st.,
West Somerville, Mass.

From: Dorothy,
10 Sanford st.,
New Cross, London.

My Dear Elsie:

I was very pleased to hear from you on Dec. 31 and thank you for the card and handkerchief. Please also thank Peggy for the card and handkerchief which arrived a couple of days after.

We laughed over Peggy's card which had candes on it and the "smoke" from the candies reminded us grimly of the air fights when white trails are left in the blue sky. The planes are so high that you can't see them.

I hope you'll never see it other than from a candle on a Christmas card. We think your President's recent speeches are very encouraging and we hope you are all willing to help us in the way he says. He's a wonderful man.

LOST ADDRESS

I expect my airmail letter to Dorothy has arrived long ago and that explains a lot, I think, why we haven't heard from each other for ages. I had lost your address and had not heard from you since you moved.

I have written to Stan and asked him for another photo of himself in the St. G., but I don't know if he has the negative with him. He had to go North with his film.

I was very surprised to hear that one of my letters has caused such a stir over there as they all seem most ordinary to me and I can't remember a bit what I've said—or which letter got through and which are at the bottom of briny.

I bet you feel proud when you read of our Navy and Air Force boys. And haven't the Aussies done a grand job in Egypt, not to mention Wavell, the RAF again, and again our wonderful Navy.

The weather since Christmas has been very cold. Last night it snowed a little and froze, too. So both yesterday and today it was very slippery under foot. We had a quiet night last night, doubtless owing to weather conditions and hope for the same tonight.

NO SIREN YET

It's now 8:30 p. m. and no siren has sounded yet. We had raids yesterday and today in the daytime, but daytime it doesn't seem so bad and we carry on with whatever we are doing, unless the bombs are dropping in the district, then we go down in Glady's Scullery.

Even the night raids have eased up a bit lately. They don't last so long. We have had 14 hours' continued bombarcment on more than one occasion.

I expect your papers gave account of the terrible fires on Dec. 29th. It was terrifying. Even our own district was lit up with a red glare when Bill left to go away on his job Monday.

It must have been a dreadful time for the firemen and the people in the district. You see, the dirty raffers fly over and drop H. E. bombs on the firemen and machine gun the barrage balloons and the men.

Lovely city churches, priceless treasures of a bygone age that can never be replaced—just wicked destruction for nothing and to achieve nothing.

FIGHTING MAD

If the Nazis hope to subdue us in this manner, how wrong they are, for it only makes us all feel fighting mad. Well, we can't lose now; we should have lost by now if we were going to lose.

We've got a grim time in front of us, with short rations, but so has old Nasty. It is certainly good of you all to pray for us.

At times it does seem if God has forsaken the world but when you think of the miracle of Dunkirk and the miracle of the tide that sent the magnetic mine up on mud, where it could be examined, even though it was a race against time and tide, it makes you think that it was a gift from Heaven even though it was an invention of the Devil.

I don't wonder you don't like the mincemeat over there if they put ground beef in it. Sounds all wrong to me. Do you ever make lemoncurd? I used to make a lot of it but lately we can't get the eggs, butter or marg or sugar and lemons necessary.

Last week I tried a war-time recipe for it, using a little of our own precious marg ration, and "more than precious" egg and a little cornflour and sometimes we can buy lemons.

They were 12 cents each but are now controlled at 13 cents per pound so I got two for 3d.

RECIPE ENCLOSED

I enclose the recipe for the good lemoncurd if you can buy the goods. I suppose you can. You'll be sure to like it. It's much better than we can buy in the shops at any time.

I think a lot of people will be out on a "binge" even though the price is sky high. Whiskey, 16id a bottle; cheapest port is 5-6d a bottle. There are cheaper red wines but it's like sweet vinegar.

Well, old dear, I'll have to pack up now, with love and best wishes from us all.

Your oll pal,
DOROTHY.

'Claudia' Is New New York Hit

A charming new play called "Claudia" is one of two hits on Broadway.

One is this play itself, produced by John Golden and written by Rose Franken on the basis of her "Claudia" stories in Red Book Magazine and in book form.

The other hit was scored at the same time by a 22-year-old girl from Omaha, Dorothy McGuire, a discovery by Miss Franken, who triumphed in the title role and has become overnight the most talked about young actress on Broadway. She has been referred to by critics as the "new Katharine Hepburn" and "the new Margaret Sullavan."

Miss McGuire began her career three years ago as an understudy in "Our Town," succeeded to the bride's role when Martha Scott went to Hollywood, then played the eldest of John Barrymore's three daughters in the Great Profile's show, "My Dear Children," all during its eight months' Chicago run.

LOIS DE FEE, Amazonian beauty, is starred in current show at the Old Howard.

Lois DeFee Star At Old Howard

Most statuesque of all burlesque queens is Lois DeFee, starring at the Old Howard this week in "Cavalcade of Girls." Dimples Delite, Leona Lewis, Rhoda Wilkins and Toni Mitchell are other glamorous girls. The show is also a big roundup of comic favorites, including Billy Foster, Danny Jacobs and George Lewis.

In the specialty act section are the Five Queens, smart jugglers; Clair and Durand, who combine agio and acrobatic dancing; Barbara and Jean LaFleur, in songs and dances; Prince and Hale, with a novelty number, and Bobby Burns and Lenny Gale, clever youngsters.

Authors Group Puts On Its First Play

The Authors Group, launched in Boston with the idea to let authors submit their scripts and have them produced by professional talent, presented their first offering last night at the Peabody Playhouse—"Take It Easy," a comedy by Frank Rossi, executive director of the group.

The play has some bright, humorous lines, sophisticated dialogue and an imaginative theme

Walt Disney's 'Fantasia' At 4th Week of Boston Run

Walt Disney's epochal cartoon picture, "Fantasia," present wonder of the cinema world, is on the eve of its fourth week at the handsomely redecorated Majestic Theater, once the show place for most of the big Griffith films, which also made history.

"Fantasia" has been drawing crowds twice a day ever since it started at the Majestic, largely because it is something never before presented on the screen. It is a combination of color, fantasy and music such as the theater never saw and heard before. The music is played by the famous Philadelphia Orchestra, led by Leopold Stokowski, who is seen on the conductor's stand in life-size poses at the introduction of each sequence. Deems Taylor is also seen and heard as narrator.

The picture represents Disney's ambitious attempt to illustrate classic music on the screen. First comes a toccata and fugue by Bach; then Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" and some marvelous ballets for snowflakes, flowers and mushrooms; then the "Sorcerer's Apprentice," by Dukas, with Mickey Mouse in the title role. After that follow Stravinsky's "Rite of Spring," with prehistoric animals; Beethoven's "Pastoral Symphony," with scenes on Mt. Olympus, home of the pagan gods; farms and flying horses; Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours," with ballets by animals from the zoo; Moussorgky's weird "Night on Bald Mountain," and then Schubert's sweet "Ave Maria," sung by a chorus in a wonderful woodland scene.

"Fantasia" is a unique attraction in the show world today. That accounts for the crowds day after day.

HORSES, HORSES, HORSES! And they all have wings. Here are a pair of pinioned ponies in the Pastoral Symphony of Beethoven, now to be seen on the sounding screen of the Majestic in Walt Disney's exciting "Fantasia."

'THE PHILADELPHIA STORY' OPENS ON LOEW'S BOSTON SCREENS THURSDAY

Hepburn Stars In Film Version

Back on the screen after an absence of more than two years, during which she scored one of the stage's outstanding comedy successes in "The Philadelphia Story," Katharine Hepburn returns in the hilarious film version of her theater hit, with Cary Grant and James Stewart as her co-stars. Loew's State and Orpheum has the new picture beginning on Thursday.

The sparkling comedy of high society behind the scenes of the forbidden Philadelphia "main line" casts Miss Hepburn as Tracy Lord, whose first marriage was broken up because she behaved "more like a Moon Goddess than a wife."

About to be wedded a second time to a man of the people, George Kittredge, portrayed by John Howard, her serenity is spoiled by the appearance of her first husband, Dexter Haven, an ideal role for Grant.

Dexter, realizing that Tracy is making a mistake, arranges a deal with "Spy" Magazine, a keyhole society publication, to have the wedding covered by Mike Connor, a highbrow writer forced to do low-brow magazine work to live. This is the role played by Jimmy Stewart.

Through Mike, Tracy learns that it is better to be a human being than a goddess, and in the end finds the right man in an exciting romantic finish.

Adapted from the Philip Barry stage hit, the picture also featured Ruth Hussey, Roland Young, John Halliday, Mary Nash and Virginia Weidler. Directed by George Cukor, "The Philadelphia Story" was produced by Joseph Mamkiewicz. The screen play written by Donald Odgen Stewart.

On the same bill, is Hal Roach's, "Road Show," starring Adolphe Menjou and Carol Landis.

"THE PHILADELPHIA STORY" is now a film. And here are Katharine Hepburn and James Stewart up to Mr. Barry's neat stage tricks. See it Thursday at the State and Orpheum.

'Cavalcade of Faith' Friday

The opening date for an extended engagement in Boston of "Cavalcade of Faith," picturing the story of the Roman Catholic Church under the pontificate of two Popes, has been set for next Friday evening at the Shubert.

With a running commentary by Basil Ruysdale, the picture shows the election of Pius XI, his review of the Boy Scouts, the signing of the Lateran Treaty, and the dedication of the great Vatican radio station with Marconi in attendance.

Other highlights record the canonization of Don Bosco, the Eucharistic congresses at Chicago, Dublin and Rio de Janiero, views of the American Cardinals at Rome, and the magnificent art treasure of the Vatican and Rome.

Showings will be continuous from one o'clock.

American Family Spends $20 a Year on Film Shows

Places of amusement, operated commercially for profit, take in annually approximately a billion dollars, according to a report issued today by Dr. Vergil D. Reed, acting director of the census. This amounts to approximately $30 per family.

According to the census survey covering 1939, there were 44,917 such places of amusement, which was an increase of 22.2 per cent over the 36,745 establishments operated in 1935. The increase in receipts was 43.4 per cent—$998,079,000 compared with $696,012,000 five years earlier.

Motion picture theaters, including those with stage shows and vaudeville, get more than two-thirds of the dollar spent by the public for commercialized amusement. During the five-year period, motion picture theaters increased in number from 12,024 to 15,115 and increased their box office collections from $508,198,000 to $673,045,000.

Motion picture theater receipts amounted to approximately $20 per family, or a little more than $5 per person including infants and aged. At an average admission of 25 cents, it would permit of every person of theater-going age visiting a motion picture theater every other week.

The average intake of each of the 15,115 theaters per year was $44,528. The survey showed one motion picture theater for each 2306 families, or approximately one for each 8700 population.

Horse and dog race tracks decreased in number from 64 to 56, but increased their revenue from $32,466,000 to $43,507,000.

Ballet Russe Opens Tonight; Changes Are Made in Cast

The Ballet Russe announces a few changes in the cast for the Boston engagement, which opens tonight at 8.45 in the Opera House.

The program includes "Les Sylphides," "Paganini," "Graduation Ball" and "Le Spectre de la Rose."

This premiere is a benefit for the Greek war relief organization. There will be five evening presentations of the famous troupe and matinees Thursday and Saturday.

The special youth matinee at 3:30 on Thursday will feature Paul Petroff instead of Jasinsky in "Aurora's Wedding." Thursday evening will star Irina Baronova in place of Morosova in "Carnaval."

The closing performance, on Saturday evening, will feature Irina Baronova in place of Tamara Toumanova in the recently added ballet, "Spectre de la Rose."

All tickets for the balance of the engagement, which included matinees on Thursday and Saturday, are now on sale only at the Boston Opera House.

War Has Got Bugs Puzzled

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Distributed by International News Service

This war has got me puzzled, especially capturing General Electric Whiskers in Bengazi. The last I heard of General Electric it was up in Schenectady and it didn't have whiskers.

Outside of that I see it as clearly as the bottom of the plate on the last spoonful. I get so much information from the radio experts that I'm beginning to enjoy an ominous silence.

Most war news is twisted like rope in a hawser, but it never gets so bad as 1918, when an Austrian captured so many Russians he had to surrender to them.

People ask me: "Are we in it or are we not?" and all I can say is, "Yes and no, like a fellow in a bathtub with no stopper."

When you select a fellow to hold your coat during a fight you can bet you will not choose a pickpocket. And I imagine that England feels we will not give her the worst of it.

The Senate is still arguing on car-barn or "all out" aid to England. They don't want to give the President too much power like the motorman who gunned her up to nine points and threw the handle away.

When Congress really gets talking on a subject it can just about make insomnia a national holiday. The Senate wants to help but doesn't want to get the carte before the blanche.

If this argument keeps up they will have to charge people in the visitors' gallery for room and board. The lads can talk the lid off an iron pot and the iron pot off the stove.

But that's a democracy where every man is entitled to his opinion if it agrees with yours.

Italians Evacuated From Western Ethiopia

CAIRO, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Italians have evacuated Dangela and other important points in Gojjam province of western Ethiopia as a result of native anti-Fascist activities, the British general headquarters reported today.

That was the only military activity recorded on all of Britain's far-flung fronts in North and East Africa. The communique was one of the briefest in months.

MONEY TO LOAN

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN

REPAID IN 12 INSTALLMENTS AT A COST OF 5¢ A DAY

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. The cost in this case will be less than 5¢ a day. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law and is the same to everyone.

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or your personal note.) No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. You don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers.

DON'T LET MONEY WORRIES "get you down"

What's the use of worrying? If you need money to pay the doctor, the hospital, taxes, or other bills, you can borrow from $40 to $1000 or more through the Shawmut "TIME LOAN PLAN" by meeting a few simple requirements.

12 TO 20 MONTHS TO PAY

Cost is low and you have from 12 to 20 months to repay, in equal monthly installments.

YOU ESTABLISH SHAWMUT BANK CREDIT

When you borrow from the Shawmut to pay bills and consolidate personal debts, you establish your credit with one of New England's oldest and largest banks. . . . You receive a Shawmut Credit Reference Card which will be helpful in arranging future loans upon prompt completion of the scheduled monthly payments.

YOU MAY HAVE LIFE INSURANCE PROTECTION

You may have life insurance protection on an unsecured loan if you are under 60. . . . In this way, your family is protected as the insurance company automatically takes care of unpaid installments in case of a borrower's death. This is but one of the EXTRA advantages of using this plan when you borrow.

BORROW $100 . . . RECEIVE $100

When you borrow $100 under this plan, you receive $100 in cash. Whatever amount you borrow, it is available to you immediately upon acceptance of your application.

NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS

You make no assignment of wages. The agreement under which you obtain your loan here is simple and easy to understand.

LOANS WITH OR WITHOUT CO-MAKERS

In many cases we do not require co-makers. During 1940 we made thousands of such loans. We endeavor to arrange loans your way if possible.

LOANS WITH COLLATERAL

If you have acceptable collateral such as listed stocks or bonds or a savings account, etc., to pledge as security for your loan, you obtain certain advantages. Many of our borrowers benefit by making loans in this way.

AUTO LOANS

With your car as security, a loan can be obtained at attractive rates, without a co-maker.

OUTSTANDING FOR CONVENIENCE

The "TIME LOAN PLAN" offered by the Shawmut Bank, the pioneer in Boston in making loans to individuals, is outstanding for convenience. You may apply for a loan or make payments at any of the 17 conveniently-located offices of the bank . . . where you will receive prompt, confidential service.

War Has Got Bugs Puzzled

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Distributed by International News Service

This war has got me puzzled, especially capturing General Electric Whiskers in Bengazi. The last I heard of General Electric it was up in Schenectady and it didn't have whiskers.

Outside of that I see it as clearly as the bottom of the plate on the last spoonful. I get so much information from the radio experts that I'm beginning to enjoy an ominous silence.

Most war news is twisted like rope in a hawser, but it never gets so bad as 1918, when an Austrian captured so many Russians he had to surrender to them.

People ask me: "Are we in it or are we not?" and all I can say is, "Yes and no, like a fellow in a bathtub with no stopper."

When you select a fellow to hold your coat during a fight you can bet you will not choose a pickpocket. And I imagine that England feels we will not give her the worst of it.

The Senate is still arguing on car-barn or "all out" aid to England. They don't want to give the President too much power like the motorman who gunned her up to nine points and threw the handle away.

When Congress really gets talking on a subject it can just about make insomnia a national holiday. The Senate wants to help but doesn't want to get the carts before the blanche.

If this argument keeps up they will have to charge people in the visitors' gallery for room and board. The lads can talk the lid off an iron pot and the iron pot off the stove.

But that's a democracy where every man is entitled to his opinion if it agrees with yours.

Italians Evacuated From Western Ethiopia

CAIRO, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Italians have evacuated Dangela and other important points in Gojjam province of western Ethiopia as a result of native anti-Fascist activities, the British general headquarters reported today.

That was the only military activity recorded on all of Britain's far-flung fronts in North and East Africa. The communique was one of the briefest in months.

MONEY TO LOAN

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN
REPAID IN 12 INSTALLMENTS AT A COST OF 5¢ A DAY

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse
You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. The cost in this case will be less than 5¢ a day. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law and is the same to everyone.

Simple to borrow
We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or your personal note.) No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. You don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers.

DON'T LET

MONEY WORRIES

"get you down"

What's the use of worrying? If you need money to pay the doctor, the hospital, taxes, or other bills, you can borrow from $40 to $1000 or more through the Shawmut "TIME LOAN PLAN" by meeting a few simple requirements.

12 TO 20 MONTHS TO PAY

Cost is low and you have from 12 to 20 months to repay, in equal monthly installments.

YOU ESTABLISH SHAWMUT BANK CREDIT

When you borrow from the Shawmut to pay bills and consolidate personal debts, you establish your credit with one of New England's oldest and largest banks. . . . You receive a Shawmut Credit Reference Card which will be helpful in arranging future loans upon prompt completion of the scheduled monthly payments.

YOU MAY HAVE LIFE INSURANCE PROTECTION

You may have life insurance protection on an unsecured loan if you are under 60. . . . In this way, your family is protected as the insurance company automatically takes care of unpaid installments in case of a borrower's death. This is but one of the EXTRA advantages of using this plan when you borrow.

BORROW $100 . . . RECEIVE $100

When you borrow $100 under this plan, you receive $100 in cash. Whatever amount you borrow, it is available to you immediately upon acceptance of your application.

NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS

You make no assignment of wages. The agreement under which you obtain your loan here is simple and easy to understand.

LOANS WITH OR WITHOUT CO-MAKERS

In many cases we do not require co-makers. During 1940 we made thousands of such loans. We endeavor to arrange loans your way if possible.

LOANS WITH COLLATERAL

If you have acceptable collateral such as listed stocks or bonds or a savings account, etc., to pledge as security for your loan, you obtain certain advantages. Many of our borrowers benefit by making loans in this way.

AUTO LOANS

With your car as security, a loan can be obtained at attractive rates, without a co-maker.

OUTSTANDING FOR CONVENIENCE

The "TIME LOAN PLAN" offered by the Shawmut Bank, the pioneer in Boston in making loans to individuals, is outstanding for convenience. You may apply for a loan or make payments at any of the 17 conveniently-located offices of the bank . . . where you will receive prompt, confidential service.

The Doctor's Orders

By Patience Hall

DR. CURTIS sat watching the girl. What he needed to know was something she was not telling him. She was holding back. It was clear that she was under some sort of strain, but her wall of reserve was unassailable.

He said slowly: "There is nothing wrong. Nothing, I am sure, that a complete rest and change for a month won't cure. Your heart is rapid, but there is no cardiac weakness. You must avoid excitement and worry. Can you follow orders?"

The girl looked thoughtful. Her answer was slow in coming. Then she said: "I'll make my plans at once."

He noted her hesitation. "If you can't do it, say so," he said. "If I am to help you, I must know."

He felt he sounded severe, but the girl disturbed him. He wished he could see her smile. The expression on her beautiful face was much too serious.

"Of course I can manage." Her tone was a rebuff as she rose and picked up her purse and gloves. "I will make my plans at once," she repeated coolly, and was gone before he had time to suggest that she see him again at the end of the month.

Puzzled and annoyed, Doctor Curtis strode out to his reception room. Miss Sadie Ormsby was closing her desk for the day. She was a spic and span young person in her starched white uniform, very smart.

"Have you the name of the young lady who just left?" he asked.

"Certainly, Doctor," she said, then added: "That was Karen Ray. I went to school with her." She sighed audibly. "Poor Karen, I do wonder what on earth she's going to do."

Dr. Curtis frowned. "What do you mean?" he demanded.

Miss Ormsby looked volumes but before she could answer the phone rang. It was an emergency call.

"Mrs. Tibbetts," she said, as she hung up the phone. "Eddie—that's Mr. Tibbetts—just fell off a ladder on their back porch. They want you over there right away."

For the next two hours he forgot about Karen Ray. Ed Tibbetts had contrived to break a couple of bones and annex a number of bruises and required considerable attention. As the doctor was leaving, Mrs. Tibbetts followed him to the door, tearfully grateful for what he had done for her husband.

"The town's lucky to have you," she declared, shamelessly brushing the tears from her eyes with the back of a broad hand. "If you'd been here last month when Dan Ray had that attack of his, I'll bet he'd be living today."

"This Dan Ray—was he Karen Ray's father?" Curtis asked, his tone carelessly casual.

"Yes. Didn't you know? Poor Karen! What that girl's been through."

"So?" encouraged Doctor Curtis.

Mrs. Tibbetts responded instantly to his kind interest.

KAREN'S STORY

"Taint that her ma died two years before her daddy passed on. Lots of us have lost our folks like that. Her ma was half an invalid for years and her dad sick too for quite a spell before the end. What made it turrible was—oh well, they were awful proud. Willing to help anybody, but never accepting a thing. It's a shame, that's what it is. And what's happened today is the worst of all." Her voice dropped. "If what I hear is true, those men are at her house right now!"

There was a loud rapping at a side door, and Mrs. Tibbetts lost her interest in Karen.

"Excuse me, Doctor. It's the grocery boy and I've got to pay him. I'll phone you tomorrow how Ed's getting on. I do feel real comfortable since you came."

Doctor Curtis felt baffled. Another avenue had closed.

But he was a young man of quick decisions. He stopped his car at the first corner drug store and inquired the shortest way to the residence of Miss Karen Ray, and ten minutes later he was parking his blue sedan in front of her house.

In the driveway was a large moving van. Men were tightening ropes across the rear end, while a little group of men and women on the sidewalk watched them soulfully. One of the group stepped up to Curtis.

"Good evening," he said challengingly. Then, his tone changing: "Why, you're the new doctor, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"If you've come to see Miss Karen I hope she lets you help her. She won't let us do a thing. That's her furniture they're taking."

"She's moving?"

"Her home's moving out," an old lady said sharply. "Can't you see they're taking her furniture? Every stick of it. The little piano her papa gave her, her great-aunt's highboy and even the cherry desk her mama's grandfather made and carved himself. Then they swept up the old trash and took it too, for good measure. Karen had nobody - and now she has nothing. Do something, can't you!"

"I will see what I can do for Miss Karen," he said firmly. "Good-night."

He walked slowly up the front walk, strangely shaken by the grim old house, and reluctant to intrude. He was doubtful of his welcome, but jangle, the bell determinedly. Instantly he heard quick steps within, and a light snapped on. The next moment the door swung open.

"Miss Ray? he said crisply. "May I come in?"

Of course.

She led the way into a huge, chilly, empty room, and said drily. "Which window sill do you prefer?" Then at sight of the man's flushed face and apologetic eyes, she unbent. "I was working in the kitchen," she said pleasantly. "Do you mind coming up to the kitchen?"

He certainly did not mind. The kitchen, by comparison, was positively gay, warm and bright and

"Karen had nobody—and now she has nothing. Do something, can't you!"

The Cast of Characters in "Doctor's Orders"

KAREN RAY, dejected by the loss of her parents, also suffers the loss of the furniture in her home.

DR. CURTIS, who has Karen as a patient but doesn't seem able to diagnose her case.

Her chin lifted. "I've still a few dollars left and I'm starting all over. I'm leaving tonight."

It was nearly an hour before Doctor Curtis left. He had talked to her of his own father and mother, intimate details, some amusing, some touching. He had drawn her out and listened to her plans, and when, to his satisfaction, he had seen at last the smile he had so wished to see, he shifted the conversation, and told her of his own plans for her complete recovery, and repeated his orders. Even at that he had a few plans which he did not mention.

When he rose to go, it was with some difficulty that he preserved his pleasant professional tone. When Karen smiled, the effect was devastating.

"I will be back here at 9 to help you lock up the house. You will take the 11 o'clock train for the South. Please repeat my directions. When do you return to Eldervine?"

"December twenty-fourth," she said demurely, sweet, lazy laughter in her eyes.

"At the latest. Miss Ormsby is being married the first of the year, and I really cannot hold her place for you indefinitely. And what are we doing Christmas Day?"

"Eating dinner in Chicago."

"Dinner for two. That's a date. Promise?"

"Yes, Doctor," she said meekly, but the eyes she raised to his sent him away with a sense of dizzy gratitude.

THE END.

Make Letter Writing Easy!

What a lot of letters a girl has to write! Now she's penning a note to a young man at camp or to an old school chum; tomorrow she's writing to a "snooty" social acquaintance or to a critical would-be employer. And each letter has its own difficulties!

That's why it's such a help to have a few letter-writing pointers. You don't have to worry over whether you've said the right thing or whether you've "pulled a boner."

What to do about that chilly feeling that's crept into your letter to Jim? Take out some of the "I did this, then I did that," sprinkle in a few warm-sounding "you's." Write "The gang all asks after you . . . You must have lots to tell us."

And no danger of your petering out halfway through your letter to Sue if you've salted away a few good bits of local news you know will interest her: "Betty and John are altar bound . . . We're all sewing for Alice's new baby."

Are you puzzled about letter etiquette? What paper to use in answering a formal invitation from the fastidious Mrs. Jones—in writing a job application to the awesome Mr. Wells of Wells and Co.?

Plain or monogrammed paper is suitable for your very formal note to Mrs. Jones. In writing to Mr. Wells use paper that's plain or printed with your name and address.

All business letters should be typewritten, and you can use the typewriter for friendly letters, but write social notes by hand.

Be sure of putting your best foot forward in all your letters. Our 40-page booklet, How to Write Letters for All Occasions, gives sample letters to guide you in your friendly, social and business correspondence, also has love letters. Includes pointers on English, vocabulary, letter etiquette—everything to make you an A1 letter writer.

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet, How to Write Letters for All Occasions, to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

END OF ASCAP-RADIO MUSIC FIGHT NEAR IN TRUST DECREE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—The end of the radio music controversy involving radio stations, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and the government, appeared in sight today with the reported approval by ASCAP'S board of a consent decree terminating the government's anti-trust suits.

The New York Times said ASCAP's board approved the decree yesterday and formal announcement of it by the Department of Justice was expected soon. ASCAP officials declined comment; the Justice Department said ASCAP had not signed as yet.

The government has a six-year-old suit pending against ASCAP in federal court here and an information, filed two weeks ago, pending in Milwaukee. It was understood the decree might take the form of settling either a tion.

A settlement of this action was expected to lead to renewal of negotiations to eliminate the differences between broadcasters and ASCAP which brought the elimination of ASCAP-controlled music from a majority of stations, including the networks, Jan. 1. The dispute was over payments for use of ASCAP music.

The boards of both ASCAP and Broadcast Music, Inc., established by the radio industry in opposition to ASCAP, scheduled meetings for today.

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—Bear Mountain Museum officials can't understand why someone made off with the museum's entire collection of 12 non-poisonous snakes, especially since the reptiles came from nearby woods teeming with similar specimens.

The great snake-snatch was disclosed by Museum Director William H. Carr, who said the snakes were not worth more than $12.

CAMBRIDGE WOMAN, 2 MEN TAKE PRIZES ON NEWS TIPS

Three alert Greater Boston residents, a woman and two men, won prizes of $5 each in a dead heat for tipster honors in the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser weekly tip contest.

Each of the trio was awarded the prize in the weekly tipster contest for recognizing news and promptly phoning the tip to the Tip Editor, Liberty 4000.

A Cambridge woman received $5 for her tip on the slaying of two women by an estranged husband. A Saugus man won his $5 for a tip on a plane crash which killed two in that town. A South Boston man won his $5 for a tip on application of John Patrick Connolly for warrants charging 11 court house attaches with giving bribes.

A prize of $2 went to a Danvers resident who phoned a tip on a general alarm fire at the State Hospital there.

Awards of $1 were given to:

A Saugus resident who took pictures of the Saugus plane crash and offered them for publication; a Dorchester man for a tip that a youth was nearly shot taking a gun from a little child who found it; a South Boston man for tip on a man killed at the Army Base; a Quincy man for tip on a fire there; an East Boston man for tip on a man suffocated; a Cambridge man for tip on a Porter sq. accident; an Everett man for tip on a fire there, and a Melrose man for tip on a rescue.

How to read your Newspaper

GET fun out of your newspaper. Read it for sheer enjoyment and entertainment. It brings you a regular parade of what goes on in the world about you. It gives you the good and the bad news. It reports success and failure, rain and sunshine, happiness and sorrow.

But when next you start to read a copy of your paper say this sentence over to yourself:

"Here in my hands is the recipe for freedom; from it I will learn what I can and must do, if I am to keep my freedom."

Probably you hadn't thought of it that way, but from some source you must learn to distinguish right from wrong, good from bad, worth from worthlessness. Your horse or your dog or even your small son does not need to concern himself much with those things because most of his decisions are made for him.

However, you, a free citizen, responsible for your own safety, your own money, your own government, must keep abreast of what's going on. You must make hundreds of definite decisions each year.

Is the proposed new traffic law a good thing; is that shirt worth two dollars; shall I buy life insurance or government bonds; should medical service be paid for by taxes or by the individual?

How good is our national defense? How dependable is our local police force? The list is almost endless in this complicated, modern life we live.

Unless you want to give up democracy and turn all such vexing questions over to a king, or a dictator, or a master, you must have all the evidence in order to make your share of right decisions.

You know, of course, that your newspaper gives you the news, the accurate information which enables you to find your answers.

Take the "wave" of kidnaping which struck us a few years ago. Public opinion, roused by the news, led to stiffening of laws, to efficient law enforcement and finally to the virtual stamping out of this kind of crime. Except for your newspapers or some news-reporting service you could hardly have known of a single kidnaping case.

Or take an example from the advertising columns of the newspapers. There'll be news of the development of a new kind of fabric in a laboratory. It is, perhaps, one that will stretch two ways instead of one. Next you'll see stores featuring the new fabric in their advertisements of a bathing suit. And with memories of straps that cut into your shoulders, you quickly decide this new thing is better.

Try this way of reading your paper. It will make you a better citizen. America needs good citizens now—as badly as she ever needed them in all her history.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17.

Bill Grimes,
Boston Evening American,
Dear Bill:

If you should meet Freddy Corcoran, you may tell him I am open to sign a contract for one of his golfing tours. I think it would be a swell idea for me to show golf galleries how to make wrong golf shots while Horton Smith, Bobby Jones and the other golf stars show how to execute correct shots.

I'll have a much easier time making good than the stars as they will at times have to bear down a bit to make perfect shots, while I can play my natural game and do the wrong thing through force of habit.

I have submitted a written apology to the board of directors of the Clearwater Country Club for breaking 100 on their course. I usually feel at home when I am batting the little white agate around an 18 hole course with 110 to 120 pokes. My reversal of form was probably due to the fact I cashed in on my $2 bet that the sun would come out and that it would get warm, and to my change in diet.

When at home, I was forced to content myself with an ordinary portion of orange juice as we cannot grow oranges in our backyard in Jamaica Plain. Now that one can get a bushel of oranges for 75 cents in Florida, Mrs. Boston is making me strong and robust on an orange juice diet. I now consume orange juice like I take on drinking water when at home. I have drank as much as a pint of orange juice at one sitting.

I know the pros won't like me for letting folks know one can take ten to 15 strokes off one's golf score by drinking orange juice, but even if they didn't I am assured a life membership in the Citrus Growers Association. I will insist though that I may be permitted to reserve the right to shift from orange juice to grapefruit juice and on special occasions to champagne. I have a lot of special occasions in mind.

Comes Home With a Snappy 98

MY SCORE, Bill, was 98. Of course I played under winter rules. This gave me the right to have preferred lies on the fairways.

There is another little matter I wish to mention. I had the good fortune to draw the champion caddy on the course. By actual measurement I found that my caddy could kick a ball 40 feet out of the rough. He had a method of kicking from his right side that was very deceptive to the opposition.

My caddy was a colored boy standing six feet three inches tall and weighing 210 pounds. I asked him if he had ever heard of Charley O'Rourke, and he replied he hadn't, but he declared he knew all about Joe Louis. The caddy denied knowing anything about Boston College, Tennessee or the Sugar Bowl.

"I don't travel much," said the caddy. "On my birthday I went to Tampa."

I asked the giant caddy if he would like to become a boxer like Joe Louis.

The caddy stood up straight, and fell into a fighting pose. He looked the part of a heavyweight threat.

"What is your name?" I queried.

"Baby Face," was the reply of the giant.

I asked for my No. 7 iron as I wished to make a bad shot to keep from laughing.

Many Sand Traps on Florida Courses

THEY DON'T have hills in Florida like they have in Marshfield and along the North Shore, and so they make their golf courses difficult by spotting many sand traps around them. These sand traps are placed along the edges of the fairways as well as near the greens.

I am now going to tell you a Believe It Or Not story. I wish my friend Bob Ripley had been here to have recorded the facts. It was all due to my wrong way of playing golf.

The ninth hole at the Clearwater Golf Club covers a distance of 385 yards more or less. The par for the hole is four which would be a cinch for your South Shore and Charles River golfers. Hap Kern and Elmer Ward would find this hole very much to their liking, and would play par golf on it.

I got off with a fair drive, and on my second shot, using a spoon, dropped the little white agate in a sand trap 120 yards from home.

"Baby Face" handed me a number three iron and pointed to a brook that was between the sand trap and the green.

"I'll take a spoon," I said to the caddy. "Yes, I know it is the wrong club to use, but I want to be consistently wrong."

The club house gallery thumbed the book on the proper things to do in golf, and decided maybe I needed a few lessons. I knew I did.

Believe It Or Not, Bill, but the agate bounced within 15 feet of the pin, and I amazed even myself when I dropped my putt.

I promise never to repeat the performance and probably will not do so.

MR. BOSTON.

FULL HOUSE TO SEE LEAFS TEST STREAKING BRUINS

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1941

By BILL GRIMES

It will be like old times when the Bruins and Toronto clash tonight at the Boston Garden. For the first time this season, New England hockey fans are really stirred up. They will tax the capacity of the Garden.

The Rossmen will be playing with a double purpose. They'll be out to annex their 22d consecutive game without a defeat as well as to protect their one-point margin over the Smythemen, whom they dethroned last week after a long stern chase.

The Maple Leafs also have a double incentive to spur them on tonight. They've been bitter rivals of the Bruins for years. And, they didn't relish yielding first place to the Rossmen. Nor has the string of setbacks they've suffered at the hands of the Bruins this season set well with the wearers of the maple leaf.

BOTH AT WAR STRENGTH

Realizing that they have within their reach an opportunity to break the Bruins' winning streak and move back into the lead position of the N. H. L. race, the Maple Leafs will be a tough team to beat.

Both teams will be at war strength. Milt Schmidt, the star center of the Bruins' Kraut line, who came out of the Detroit game a week ago with a bad leg, has fully recovered. Schmidt sat out the Ranger game in New York on Thursday but returned to the firing line Saturday in Montreal for the Canadiens game.

Goldie Gordon, who has been on the Toronto hospital list, is back at his old right wing berth, which gives the Maple Leafs their full quota of scoring power.

Coach Cooney Weiland must do some master minding in order to get through the Leafs. He hopes to be able to juggle his lines so that the Krauts will oppose the Apps line. If he is successful, Woody Dumart will be instructed to cover Drillon, which should develop into an interesting duel, for both are fast and rugged.

With all due respect to Drillon's ability to score goals, Dumart is the most improved player on the Bruins' roster this season, and the veteran right winger from Toronto will encounter plenty of trouble getting away from his check.

Little Eddie Wiseman will also have a checking assignment to carry out. Eddie will be assigned to watch "Sweeney" Schriner, which is a tougher task than Dumart drew, for the former Amerk is one of the cagiest offensive players in the N. H. L.

In Frankie Brimsek and "Turk" Broda, the Bruins and Maple Leafs have the best goal minders in hockey. And, as has been the case, with the exception of the first game played here last fall, the battle will develope into a dual between the two great goalies.

In 37 games, Brimsek has been beaten 54 times, after a none too spectacular start, while Broda has yielded only 70 goals in 36, less than two per game.

Unquestionably, the attendance record for this season will go by the boards tonight. The game is a "natural" for the Bruins and the Maple Leafs are the class of the National League.

"I'M OKAY, COACH"—Milt Schmidt, out of the recent Bruins-Toronto game with a charley horse, tells Coach Cooney Weiland he'll be ready to face those self-same Leafs at Garden tonight. Bruins plan to extend their unbeaten string to 22 games, and largest crowd in Boston hockey history will be there to see them.

Time Draws Near To Open Baseball's Perennial Wrangle

By HERB FINNEGAN

ONLY A FEW DAYS NOW, and the Bees and Sox will be rolling southward toward their training camps. The usual coterie of royal rooters will be along. "No drinking until we leave Back Bay Station," is the watchword. And everybody, difficult as it may be, will obey that hard and fast rule, which has mellowed into tradition over the years.

Once the long journey to the Back Bay has passed, the corks start to pop, the old-time royal rooters and writers line up against the younger members of the entourage, and the perennial argument is on, to wit:

"Were the old-time players better than those of today?"

The late Tom McEnaney (may the grass be green above him) was the staunchest champion of the old-timers.

"There'll never be another outfield like Hughey Duffey and Tommy McCarthy," Tom would insist, and I never recall him being shouted down. In fact Tom would stay up all night long to prove his point, and well into the next day if anybody cared to argue that long.

Tom knew what he was talking about, too. He had been a ball player of repute in his day, and one who had never seen him on a diamond could easily believe it by watching the fluid quality of his golf game.

They're Not So Clever as Collins and Barry

WE BELIEVE Tom was more right than wrong. We believe the modern ball player can't compare to the pre-war player defensively. They played for one run in those days, and they specialized more on "inside ball."

Tommy McCarthy was famous for having invented the "trapped ball" in the outfield. For example, say there were men on first and second with one out. A short fly to McCarthy would result in him "trapping" the ball, i. e., catching it on the pickup, and making a force play at third, and second; or, missing the man at second, getting the batter at first because often he wouldn't bother to run to first base.

Nor can we recall any modern second base combination with the cleverness of Collins and Barry. Evers and Tinker, Collins and Barry were so expert at killing off double steals that base-runners were afraid to move. One doesn't see that today.

But then the boys don't play for one run today, what with the live-ly ball, nor do the outfielders play close enough to permit "trapping" of fly balls as they did in prelively ball era.

But in hitting and pitching there is a fair basis for comparison.

I can recall Bill Carrigan, upon his return to the Red Sox in '27 after 11 years' absence from the game, take a squint at Ruth taking a toe hold at the plate, and musing: "Shore, Leonard, Foster, Mays and even Ruth himself would never have permitted anything like that. He'd have spent the afternoon on the seat of his pants if he tried it."

Yes, the batters got all the best of it after the White Sox scandal and the killing of Ray Chapman by Carl Mays' beanball in 1920, but conversely, the pitchers got all the worst of it.

The writer himself can recall Eddie Cicotte, old Red and White Sox pitcher, throwing up a baseball that was actually black and white. It must have looked like a vanilla cupcake with chocolate frosting to the amazed hitter.

If the Pitchers Are Better, Hitters are Worse

SPIT-BALL, shine-ball, emery ball were part of practically every pitcher's routine. Only a few like Walter Johnson didn't resort to sharp practices, and that is why Johnson will always rank as No. 1 pitcher in the old timers' books.

Russ Ford, Eddie Cicotte, Cy Folkenberg, Ray Keating, Hod Eller et al were outstanding examples of the old-time pitcher who got by for years on their tricks.

In those days, too, the pitchers got all the best of it, because it was seldom that the ball was changed during the course of a game. I can recall one game in Cincinnati where the same ball was used the entire nine innings. It must have looked like a pancake at game's end.

But how would your Foxxes, and Cronins, and Greenbergs and the rest have fared against that type of pitching? We'll never be able to find out, of course, but one can guess.

We'd say, for the sake of argument, that the old time batters like Lajoie, Wagner, Eddie Collins, Duffy, Cobb, Delahanty and the rest should be rated better than the sluggers of today, and on the other hand we'd rate pitchers like Dean, Hubbell and Grove above the old time heroes, except in certain instances like Walter Johnson or Christy Mathewson.

Perhaps a leveling off process and a better chance for comparison could be afforded if they permitted the return of the spit-ball, which old timers like Eddie Collins and Frank Shellenback of the Red Sox so strongly advocate.

Then perhaps a fellow could get some sleep on way to the training camp.

B. C. MAY GO AGAIN TO RAMS FOR COACH

There now appears a definite possibility that Boston College, for the second time in two years will cast its football lot with a Fordham line coach.

Earl Walsh, who took over the line mentoring duties at the New York Jesuit college when Frank Leahy came to Boston College two years ago, is a distinct possibility if the B. C. A. A. authoritics are interested in another Notre Dame coach.

Circumstances, which may or may not be connected, point to the possibility of Walsh's entrance as head man at the Heights.

LEAHY HOME TODAY

Last night Bill Ohrenberger, coach of all sports at English High School, former Boston College football player and a member of the Graduate Board of Athletics, took the boat for New York.

Since the Boston schools are enjoying their annual mid-winter vacation this week, Ohrenberger may have gone to Gotham merely to relax. But, then again he may have gone with Fordham his destination and young Mr. Walsh his object.

Frank Leahy, who has offered Boston College any aid that he might be able to give, stopped off at New York yesterday on his way back to Boston from South Bend where he signed his new Irish contract. Leahy may have gone to Fordham to renew acquaintances at Rose Hill. He may have gone to have conversation with Line Coach Walsh.

Leahy was to arrive in Boston sometime today to clean up his local business that was interrupted when he quit B. C. for Notre Dame. Included in that business might conceivably be a report on young Mr. Walsh, the Fordham line coach.

IN LEAHY'S FOOT PRINTS

Not too much is known about the prospect in question. Walsh, like Leahy graduated from Notre Dame in the early thirities. Like the man he succeeded at Fordham, Walsh was a lineman at South Bend. At Fordham he has shown some real ability.

His lines during the past two seasons compared favorably with the famous "Granite" line turned out by Leahy.

Proof of Walsh's coaching prowess was on display in the Cotton Bowl last New Year's Day. On that occasion the rugged Fordham line stopped the powerful Texas Aggie running attack and the great John Kimbrough. Not many lines held All-America Jawn in tow this season.

All recent developments considered it now appears that Boston College may have its new coach before the week is over.

John P. Curley, graduate manager of athletice, and the Rev. Maurice V. Dullea, S. J., faculty moderator of athletics, met informally with members of the graduate board yesterday at the Heights, going over the long list of applicants for Leahy's old spot.

A formal meeting of the graduate board will be held within a few days and the name of the new coach might come from that get-together.

Tab the name of Fordham's Earl Walsh.

Buckless to Fight In Quincy Amateurs

Many outstanding mitt wielders have been lined up for the amateur boxing show to be held next Thursday night at the Quincy Arena under direction of Jimmy Gardner.

Manny Baptiste of Taunton stands out among those enlisted in the 175-pound class, and Willard Ruckless of Saugus in the 147-pound division.

ALL-AMERICA FULLBACK, John Kimbrough, star from Texas A & M, signs with N. Y. Yankees of American Professional Football League. Doug Hertz, president, and Jack McBridge, coach, standing, look on. Kimbrough will make $37,500 by joining the Yankee organization, $12,500 of it for his grid avtivities.

Large Crop of Holdouts As Clubs Begin Training

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—About this time of the year, baseball holdouts become official—and the 1941 crop is impressive in quality and quantity.

Major league magnates always insist no player is a holdout until he fails to report for spring training. But, with camps opening right and left, they can't call their salary squabbles make believe much longer.

Principal players still unsigned include Joe DiMaggio, reported to want $37,500 to $40,000 from the New York Yankees; Ted Williams, who wants $18,500 from the Boston Red Sox; Harry Danning, who is asking the same sum from the New York Giants; Johnny Mize, holding out for $17,500 from the St. Louis Cardinals; Ernie Lombardi, who wants something like that amount from the Cincinnati Reds; Rudy York, angling for $15,000 from Detroit, and Mickey Owen, whose goal is $12,500 from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

CATCHING PROBLEM

However, these stars form only the upper crust. The Cardinals still are shy the signatures of 23 players. The Chicago Cubs have 13 holdouts; the Yankees, 14; the Giants, 11; the Reds, eight, and so on.

The cases of Owen and Danning, both catchers, are serious because their clubs already have begun training.

Danning, generally conceded to be the best backstop in the big leagues last year, reportedly was offered the same scale, $15,000. But he wants to get up into the class with teammates Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell.

CUBS PADLOCK MONEY

Owen was acquired from the Cardinals in December, and the Dodgers reportedly offered him a raise, probably $1000 over the $8500 he had made in St. Louis. But Owen declared he wanted a bigger raise and cited some of the other Brooklyn paychecks.

Eddie Joost is reported to have turned down a proffered $2000 raise from the Reds. Lombardi still is haggling over whether a bonus he received a couple of years ago was a gift or a part of his salary. He considers it the latter and feels he took a cut last season, which he wants to get back. However, he's mostly just an habitual late signer—like Arky Vaughan of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who is expected to carry his contract to camp with him.

The Cubs' holdout siege is a matter of some consequence. Owner Phil Wrigley put a padlock on his money bags at the same time he hired a new general manager, Jim Gallagher, former sports writer.

Some of the players really are sore about the cuts they're being asked to take, and some are just feeling out Gallagher to find out what they can get for asking. Stan Hack and Charley Root made trips from their homes in California to Chicago to talk over terms, and went back without signing.

KELLER LONE YANK IN LINE

The fact the Cubs gave Dizzy Dean $10,000 again has been hard for some of his teammates to digest, also.

Cleveland has three holdouts—Hal Trosky, Jeff Heath and Roy Weatherly—for whom President Alva Bradley is unlikely to claim they are the highest-paid anything.

The Yankee malcontents include virtually every regular except Outfielder Charley Keller. Some of the stars seem sure to miss the start of training next week.

The big group of Cardinals still dissatisfied include Don Padgett, Ernie Koy and several of the club's shining rookies, in addition to Mize, who wants to get into the price bracket left vacant when Joe Medwick was traded to Brooklyn.

Most of the other clubs are in ship shape.

STEWARDS CRACK DOWN AS JOCKEY DIES

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 18 (AP)—A series of accidents brought worried frowns today to Hialeah Park jockeys—riding now with mourning bands around their sleeves in memory of the victim of one bad spill.

Two riders were injured yesterday within a few hours of the death of Apprentice Joseph Giangaspro, hurt last Friday when his mount broke down.

Stewards slapped a $200 fine and suspension for the rest of the meeting on Wandell Eads, top apprentice of the season, as an aftermath of a mishap.

Irving Anderson escaped serious injury when his horse, John's Heir, tripped and broke his neck against the steel upright of the inside fence.

The stewards ruled that Eads, aboard Speed to Spare, had interfered through carelessness.

"I didn't even know Anderson was near me," the youngster explained.

Giangaspro, who lived at Jamaica, Long Island, was the first rider to be killed since Hialeah insured the jockeys for $5000 against death through a track accident.

His body was sent to Jamaica for burial.

The Eastern Massachusetts boys saw Hudson's crack sextet gobble up most of the honors—placing seven boys on the squad. Only two second stringers were left off. Lexington, Dedham and Somerville placed three each, Malden two and Brockton and Brookline one.

Greek Wrestler Anxious to Click

George Macricostas, 25-year-old Greek who has supplanted Jimmy Londos in the hearts of his countrymen, wrestles what he considers one of the most crucial matches of his life Wednesday night when he opposes Leo Numa in one of the main bouts of Promoter Paul Bowser's all-star tournament at the Arena.

It is crucial because it marks Macricostas' first appearance on a Boston mat, and he is anxious not only to win but to make a fine impression with Hub fans.

In the co-feature, Pantaleon Manlapig, champion of the Philippine Islands and lieutenant in the army of his native country, faces the stiffest opposition he has yet encountered here when he meets Joe Cox, rough and ready Kansan.

VAUDEVILLE LIVES AGAIN IN ICE-CAPADES AT GARDEN

The third ice extravaganza of the season, this one making its second appearance of the year, "Ice-Capades of 1941," opens a four-day engagement of five performances, including a matinee on Washington's Birthday, at Boston Garden tomorrow night.

Whereas most ice shows are fashioned to a closer approach to musical comedy and ballet, with skates replacing dancing pumps, "Ice-Capades of 1941" is built more after the manner of the now virtually extinct vaudeville.

WORLD FAMOUS JUGGLER

Indeed, some of those most in the spotlight hail from that medium, merely having added a skating routine to old vaudeville performances.

Among them are Serge Flash, world famous juggler, and Joe Jackson, Jr., bicycle rider, who add their offerings to those of other novelty performers and trick skaters.

Among the latter, all audiences particularly like Eric Waite, an ex-hockey player, and Jackson and Lynam, whose "Horse Sense and Nonsense" turn out to be a grotesque equine that prances and capers over the ice and finally right into the lap of some surprised spectator.

There is also an ample supply of champions of both sexes, of skillful and graceful skating dancers.

EVEN JITTERBUGGING

Belita, beautiful, blond English champion and Vera Hruba, dazzling Czechoslovakian star will thrill with their performances in the various production numbers. Lois Dworshak with her jitterbugging and "jivin," and Red McCarthy, the fastest human on steel blades keep their audiences spellbound with their routines.

Everett McGowan and Ruth Mack with their comical but expertly performed Apache number; Cliff and Rona Thaell with their graceful waltzing and Robert Dench and Rosemarie Stewart, in their "Precision" number are all headliners.

Mechanic Arts Stars To Run in National

A Boston high school will be represented in the national interscholastic track meet for the first time in many years next Saturday at New York as a result of last night's action of the Boston school committee in granting Lew Watkins and John Malley of Mechanic Arts High School permission to compete.

Watkins in the 300-yard run and Malley in the 1000-yard run are this section's standouts, each having broken records for their respective events in the Northeastern University meet before winning their specialties in the state meet and Andover interscholastics. They will be accompanied to New York by Coach Jim Holland.

Scoring Title Seems Clinched By Bill Cowley

MONTREAL, Feb. 18 (AP) — Boston's great center, Bill Cowley, who is shooting for the National Hockey League scoring championship and a new record for assists, virtually clinched both honors last week.

He put together five scoring points—two goals and three assists—to bring his season's total to 48 points, nine more than his nearest rival, Syl Apps of Toronto. That looked like an almost unbeatable lead with only about a dozen games to go. Cowley has 35 assists, only two short of the league record set by Joe Primeau of Toronto in 1931-32, along with 13 goals.

B. C. SEXTET MEETS TECH; N.U. PLAYS N.H.

Coach John "Snooks" Kelley's Boston College sextet will be aiming for 12 goals—or more—when they tangle with George Owens' not so potent M. I. T. team in the feature game of a New England Intercollegiate League doubleheader tonight at the Arena. Northeastern will meet New Hampshire University in the other half.

Capt. Johnny Pryor, Ray Chaisson, Al Dumond, Bob Mee, Larry Babine, Wally Boudreau and Ralph Powers have paced the Eagles to the top of the league standing, to 11 straight conquests and to the remarkable total of 105 goals in an even dozen games for an average slightly under nine goals per contest.

By scoring 12 goals tonight Boston College can reach the terrific average of nine goals per contest. The task shouldn't be too difficult. On Dec. 17 Boston College clubbed Tech, 15-1.

During the course of the campaign Boston College has met, among others, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth (twice), Boston University (twice), Colgate, Army, New Hampshire (twice), and Northeastern. A near nine-goal per game average against the likes of that opposition isn't to be sneezed at.

The Eagles will end a most successful campaign next Tuesday when they meet Northeastern in a return N. E. League bout at the Arena.

HEAVYWEIGHT DEAF MUTE HERO OF TRI-CITY BOUTS

By HERB FINNEGAN

Dave Horblett, Boston heavyweight, had to wait until today to find out he was the hero of the tri-city boxing bouts at the Garden, sponsored by the Irish-American A. A. and attended by an enthusiastic gathering of 5000.

Horblett is a deaf mute, boxing under doctor's instructions in hopes that a blow to the head one day will restore his speech and hearing. But if he couldn't hear the cheers of the audience as he outfought big Jim Nocan of Cleveland in the evening's climactic bout, he could at least read all about it today.

TWO TITLES FOR BOSTON

Horblett is a good puncher, good enough to win the Diamond Belt championship last week. But nobody expected him to whip Nocan, who had given the durable Chuck Prendible a shellacking in the semi-final. And it didn't look as if he could do it in the first round of the final, either.

It was Nocan's fight until the last minute of the second round. Then Horblett uncorked a terrific right which seemed to have broken Nocan's nose. The latter bled profusely, but his seconds stopped the flow effectively between rounds.

That third round was an epic. Left, right, left, right, but mostly rights did Horblett unloose. He was the aggressor every second of the round, started the claret again from Nocan's nose and had him reeling at the bell.

The decision was unanimous, and if there had been a poll for the outstanding performer of the night, Horblett would have gotten the nod here too.

It was a fine show, in toto. Francis Leonard and Horblett gave Boston titles in two of the six classes. Cleveland took the night's honors by winning three — Jerry Flemia, 135, Johnny Lawer, 147, and Martin Nelson, 160. Elton Evans of Philadelphia took the middleweight title back to Philadelphia.

THAT BUCKLESS DECISION

Before intermission, Sigmund Kobylinski of Philadelphia was given the award over Willard Buckless of Saugus in the 147-pound semi-final. The fans were still booing the decision when they left the Garden early this morning.

After an uneventful first round, Buckless was dropped by a wild right in the second. Game as a pebble, he came back like a champion and stung Kobby so fiercely with a right to the heart that he almost squared the session.

In the third round it was all Buckless. He did all the forcing, and at one time had Kobby out on the ropes.

At the bell Buckless was still climbing all over his opponent and seemed to have the verdict sewed up nicely. So you can imagine the thunder that broke loose when the decision was voted to the Philadelphian. Referee Johnny Martin and Judge Happy Callahan will long remember it.

Lester McGowan's five-round exhibition with Orlando Fanti was spoiled somewhat because Fanti refused to lead, but ringside critics were loud in their praise of McGowan's defensive tactics. Everyone predicts a glowing future for the boy . . . Ken Conley, despite his knockout by Flemia in the final, looks like a coming champion. Ken's only 18. He won his semi-final by a kayo, but just didn't have the stamina to stay up under two tough bouts in one night . . . Happy Farren and Paul Conley were in Ken's corner . . . Billy Connelly will be able to study better if he keeps away from boys like Martin Nelson of Cleveland. The B. U. boy couldn't stay two rounds with the aggressive Swede . . . Lou Vivolo is a game 'un. He must have taken a thousand punches from Elton Evans, but he was still in there swinging at the last bell.

Kaplan Gets Draw

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Mike Kaplan, Boston welterweight who hasn't lost a fight in New York, gained a draw with tough Tony Martelliano of New York in a furiously-fought 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Palace.

There were no knockdowns, but Kaplan shook up Tony in the second and sixth rounds and Martelliano made Mike's knees buckle with a right under the heart in the fourth.

Solon Asks Dorazio K.O. Probe

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 18 (AP)—John J. Haluska, Pennsylvania State Senator, declared today the Joe Louis-Gus Dorazio fight was "a disgrace," that "Dorazio took a perfect dive" and that the whole business ought to be investigated.

Haluska saw the melee at Philadelphia last night as a guest of a fellow senator who already has pending a resolution to investigate the State Athletic Commission.

At Philadelphia, Leon L. Rains, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, expostulated:

"Dorazio was so completely knocked out that the commission hpysician said he had a hard time bringing him around."

Mike Jacobs Scoffs At Fight Charges

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Mike Jacobs, who shared in the promotion of the Joe Louis-Gus Dorazio heavyweight title fight in Philadelphia, today scoffed at charges that Dorazio "either sold out or was unfit to meet the champion."

"Those charges are the result of a political row between the State Athletic Commission and some of the State Senators," said Jacobs, "and I don't want to get mixed up in it.

"Louis doesn't need any help in the ring. If there was anything crooked about the fight it would have lasted for several rounds to give the fans a run for their money.

"The fact is Louis finishes them all just as fast as he can. Just like he stopped Max Schmeling before a capacity crowd in just a few seconds.

"As for Dorazio not being a fit opponent, he is just about as good as any of the other heavyweights who have fought Louis. It isn't Joe's fault that his opponents haven't more class.

"The fans turn out just to see Louis in action no matter whom he fights."

Cardinal Outfield Candidates in Line

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18 (AP)—All outfield candidates of the St. Louis Cardinals were under contract today, the last three to sign being Ernie Koy, Harry Walker and John Wyrostek.

Caplin Directs Jenkins' Career From City Prison

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (INS)—Hymie Caplin, temporarily housed in Brooklyn city prison following his conviction on charges of bankrolling a card sharp ring, loudly exclaimed today that he has no intention of withdrawing as a fight manager. He said:

"Lew Jenkins fights Lou Ambers on the 28th of this month and he takes on Bob Montgomery next month. Lou Salica, Herbie Katz, Allie Stolz—they're all right in there.

"They'll get along all right with Willie Friedland, my trainer. He knows how I handle fighters."

By LAWTON CARVER

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18 (INS)—The City of Brotherly Love today pondered an epic exposition of mercenary brutality—Joe Louis' conquest over Philadelphia's own Gus Dorazio last night.

Threats of a state investigation of boxing conceivably may materialize after this latest farce in the Louis' repertoire of title defenses.

Louis' knockout in 1 minute and 30 seconds of the second round was accomplished even faster than had been expected, and left a crowd of just under 16,000 both amazed and disappointed. They hadn't expected much, and assuredly didn't get much, but still had the right to the scattered boos they let loose at the finish.

After all, a total of $57,552.62 was paid by the spectators to witness this latest travesty on an increasingly obnoxious situation.

It goes from worse to worst, the next stop for Louis being his home town, Detroit, the date March 24, and the victim Abe Simon, a kindly, bovine-like 250-pounder, who thus will be added to the sacrificial pyre.

LACK COMPETITION

Like the champions did in the old days, Louis could take on his current opposition in exhibitions at so much a round and still build a fortune.

They haven't got a chance—as Dorazio found out early last night in what was to have been a 15-round fight.

He leaped out and all over Louis in the first round, traded punches, ducked and weaved and bobbed and finished the opening three minutes all even, or thereabouts, without anything important happening.

In the second round he rushed Joe, slugged a moment, then was straightened up by a good healthy swing. He countered with a right to Louis' chin and promptly got his intellect knocked through the roof of his head. The punch that gave Louis a victory in his 14th successful defense of the title was a right hand to the mouth and chin combined.

DORAZIO MOTIONLESS

It was a none too long right, but one perfectly aimed and timed and Dorazio immediately was converted into a composite of Louis' greatest killings of the past. The Philadelphian stiffened for a fleeting instant, then toppled face first, his nose burro ving in the canvas, his hands and arms folding under him. The blood ran out of his face as he lay there and was counted out.

Dorazio didn't even stir until the count was half way over, and when they finally got him up he began to babble that they shouldn't stop it,

EXHIBITION AT SANTA FOR CHALLEDON TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18 (AP)—Come nightfall at Santa Anita Park, the question of Challedon's fitness for the $100,000 Handicap March 1 may be answered.

In an unprecedented move the track management arranged for Maryland's pride and the nation's handicap king to work out today at seven furlongs under conditions simulating an actual race.

Until today, Challedon had not started at Santa Anita. The horse has been bothered by a heel wound which threw him out of training for two weeks.

Yesterday there were published reports of a front leg injury, but Trainer L. T. Whitehall firmly denied that his charge had gone lame.

Never before in California had such an event been scheduled—with the horse, under colors, starting from the gate with the official starter ringing the bell. Betting was barred.

Nominated to furnish competition were Teddy Kerry, Athelwold and Rough Pass. Challedon engaged in a somewhat similar exhibibition at Suffolk Downs with Many Stings last summer while preparing for the Massachusetts Handicap.

Whitehill and owner W. L. Brann planned the workout for yesterday, but agreed to a track suggestion that it be staged during a regular program. There was no racing at Santa Anita yesterday.

Whitehill said the horse, if in shape after today's test, would be entered in the $10,000 San Antonio Handicap Saturday.

Hoppe Home, Won't Retire

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (INS)—Willie Hoppe was back home today, fresh from his world's three-cushion billiard championship victory in the Chicago tournament and confident he will continue his triumphant campaigns on the green tables.

Hoppe, who will be honored at a reception of the Metropolitan Billiard Club tonight, said:

"I think my style has improved. I'm swinging better, hitting the ball through and keeping my eyes on it."

He explained that consistent training, more than anything else, enabled him to win the title despite a serious attack of pneumonia shortly before the tournament.

And retire? Not Hoppe.

He said, "I expect to go on playing as long as I can."

R. I. RAMS PLAY TUFTS QUINT AT MEDFORD

Running roughshod over all opposition and leaving new scoring records in their wake, the wonder Rhode Island basketball team tonight clashes with Tufts in Cousins' gym, Medford.

The Rhody Rams come here after their smashing 96 to 67 victory last night over Worcester Tech on their home court at Kingston, R. I.

ONLY ONE DEFEAT

This is the "make or break" week for little Rhody which has become a "mighty" Rhody in the hoop loop. Within their grasp is at least the New England title—perhaps national honors.

For the Worcester Tech win was their 17th out of 18 games played. And there are few teams hereabouts who appear able to even give them a good workout.

TWO HURDLES TO TITLE

But this is the week that will tell. For after tonight's battle, they meet Springfield at home on Thursday and Connecticut at Storrs on Saturday. By these two hurdles safely and they can help themselves to the N. E. title and look for foreign fields to conquer.

Here's how the basketball picture now looks:

Style gives way to comfort in the dress of women of the Mechanized Transport Corps of Britain, who find the battle-dress uniform much more suitable for their work than the previous one. Here's a member cranking a car . . . wearing the new outfit.
